14 GIs Slain As Reds Slash Into 2 Groups

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese infantrymen slashed into two groups of U.S. troops Sunday night, killing 14 Americans and wounding 28 in close-quarter fighting. Only three enemy were known dead.

Fighting generally appeared to be at the lowest level since the enemy's spring offensive began six weeks ago.

Eleven Americans were killed and 13 were wounded in one fight, about 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Mortars slammed into a night bivouac of American paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade, defending the southen approaches to the provincial capital of Bao Loc.

As the mortars pinned down the defenders, North Vietnamese infantrymen drove to the barbed wire perimeter of the camp, hurling hand grenades and firing machine guns and riffles.

The paratroopers ought back and called in helicopter gunships and troop reinforcements, who succeeded in driving off the attackers after a 2½-hour battle. North Vietnamese casualties were not known, spokesmen said.

The other engagement also lasting 2½ hours, was in the Viet Cong's War Zone C stronghold in northern Tay Ninh province along the Cambodian border, where thousands of American air cavalrymen are pursuing troops of the North Vietnamese 1st and 7th Divisions.

Troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division sweeping 65 miles northwest of Saigon late Sunday came under withering small arms and machine-gun fire that killed three Americans and wounded 15. The enemy withdrew under heavy bombardment by warplanes and artillery, leaving only three bodies.

Headquarters also announced three more American helicopters were shot down and destroyed during the weekend, raising the number of choppers lost in the war to 2,499. Only one crewman was wounded.

It was the only action reported in the 3rd Corps Area that includes Saigon. Military spokesmen reported a notable drop in enemy activity there and said the threat to Saigon posed by four North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions had eased.

They said allied forces in the area killed more than 8,000 enemy soldiers in the past six weeks, took more than 1,000 prisoners and captured more than 3,000 weapons and 100 tons of rice.

"We do not see any large-scale activity throughout the 3rd Corps at this time," said a spokesman. "The enemy has been hurt by his rice supply. Most of the people are hungry. They are short of medical supplies. Malaria is a big problem. It causes them heavy casualties."

But analysts predicted the offensive would continue and action would pick up again with some battalion-sized assaults and continuation of rocket and mortar attacks. They said the most critical area is still the string of American bases stretching 20 to 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

With fighting around the capital at a low level, half the B52 raids along the Saigon approaches have been shifted to the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

Plans South Viet Visit

Rogers Hopes For Some Troop Pullout This Year

Saigon Trip Will Follow May Parley

Declares Nixon Has 'Fair, Reasonable' Plan To End War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers declared today that "we certainly hope there will be some chance of a mutual withdrawal of troops" from Vietnam this year.

Rogers told a news conference that he plans to pay a visit of three or four days to South Vietnam following a foreign ministers meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization at Bangkok, Thailand, in May.

The Nixon administration, Rogers said in response to a direct question, does "have a plan which we think is fair and reasonable for ending this conflict" in Vietnam.

"We're going to proceed in every possible way to apply it," he declared. "We have every hope it will bring peace."

He flatly refused—as he and other administration officials have done in the past—to give any details of the plan or to say whether there has in fact been any progress in secret contacts with Communist negotiators in Paris or elsewhere.

On the key question of troop withdrawal, Rogers told the newsmen and women who crowded his first news conference as secretary of state:

"I certainly hope there will be some chance of a mutual withdrawal of troops this year. But if it's to be mutual you have to have mutuality.

"As to unilateral withdrawal of troops (a U.S. withdrawal without parallel Communist action), I won't go beyond what the President has said. We are considering all possibilities. I won't predict what might be done."

Aside from a barrage of Vietnam questions, Rogers faced queries on the Middle East, troubles with Peru, NATO and relations with the Soviet Union.

But the war, particularly diplomatic efforts to end the fighting, was high in many reporters' minds.

Despite Nixon's call for silence about secret negotiations, inquiries have persisted and one high official—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird—said last week "there has been some sign of progress in some of the private talks."

Nixon, pledged to seek a peaceful settlement of the war, has taken the position that secret negotiations would be jeopardized if officials give public information about them.

Other diplomatic issues facing Rogers arose from these developments:

—The Wednesday deadline for cutting off U.S. aid to Peru if Lima's military regime fails to move toward what Washington deems to be just compensation for seized American oil properties. Nixon's special envoy in the dispute, John N. Irwin II, stopped off to see the President in Florida over the weekend while hurrying back to Lima.

Tavern Leveled By Blaze

Probe Continues In Fire At 'Downs'

CHARRED BAR SCENE. Stools remained lined up in the burned interior of the Waterford Downs nightclub along Route 7 following a blaze which destroyed the longtime Yellow Creek area landmark over the weekend. The roof of the structure collapsed as firemen from three communities battled the flames.

Investigation continued today into the cause of a stubborn blaze which leveled the unoccupied Waterford Downs tavern along Route 7 south of Wellsville Saturday night with a loss of about $20,000.

The identity of the current owner was being sought in an effort to learn the actual loss resulting from the fire which broke out shortly after 9 p. m. Saturday.

Twenty-four men and three pumper trucks from Wellsville, Irondale and Stratton volunteer departments fought the flames from 9:20 p.m. Saturday to Sunday morning at 2:30.

The rambling three - section building remained only smoldering ruins today.

Wellsville Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the smaller one - story section which contained the kitchen was completely engulfed by flames when the Wellsville department arrived.

The fire was spreading into the ceiling of the adjacent 1½-story tavern area, he said. "It was impossible to stop," he said, explaining the flames raced through hidden subfloors, paneled walls and closed - off stairwells. Chief Lewis said the building had been re-modeled many times, and there were various false ceilings and other areas behind walls.

The last owner has been identified as Charles Harris.

A two-story building at the upriver end was also destroyed. A smaller building, also two-stories high and about 100 feet away, was undamaged.

The tavern had been involved in a 1968 Jefferson County prostitution investigation by the Grand Jury.

At 5:30 a. m. yesterday, seven men and one pumper truck from Wellsville returned to the scene to reduce the danger of the still smoldering ruins from damaging nearby Yellow Creek Control Tower of the railroad, Lewis said. Later, at 4:30 p.m. two men and a pumper checked the site to insure no additional fire had flared and to wet down the rubble.

Kenneth Weekley of 910 Commerce St., Wellsville, a volunteer fireman, was treated at 2:25 a.m. Sunday at City Hospital for smoke burns of the eyes suffered when he was assisting at the scene.

Lewis said it may be a "long, drawnout process" in discovering the ownership of the property. "We may have to check with the recorer's office in Jefferson County," he said. It is not known at present whether the building and its contents are covered by insurance.

Breaks Off Talks

Wellsville Council Hits Police Claims

Wellsville Councilmen have issued a statement, terminating further wage talks with the city's police force and declaring that public claims made by the officers' representatives "erroneous" and "irresponsible."

The statement by Council says publicity provided by the police representatives is a violation of an agreement not to issue press releases during negotiations.

Councilmen also say the 10 per cent pay offer made by them is the limit of the city's financial resources, and urged the officers who have been reporting off ill to return to duty.

Atty. William Telzrow of Wellsville, who has been representing the police force in the negotiations, said, "We are reviewing our position in light of the weekend developments," referring to Council's stand.

Meanwhile, Police Chief John Hephner and Patrolman James Boyle continue alternating 12-hour shifts while the other officers — Capt. Pete Trainer and Patrolman Ed James, Max Zahrndt, and Charles Amato—continue to report off ill.

This is the text of Council's statement:

"Wellsville City Council has deliberately refrained from issuing any statement regarding salaries and wages for city

Donor Lawrence, Mass., Widow

Mechanical Heart Man Getting Human Transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital started an operation at 7 a.m. (CST) today to replace the mechanical heart implanted in Haskell Karp, 47, with a human one.

A spokesman for the hospital said the donor was a 40-year-old Lawrence, Mass., widow who had suffered irreversible brain damage after she was flown to Houston this morning.

An artificial heart was implanted in Karp's chest on April 4.

The spokesman said he had no idea how long the operation would take.

"I would guess several hours but this is only a guess. This is the first time we've had this kind of operation," he said.

Karp, who was able to drink water Sunday and was being fed intravenously, was listed in satisfactory condition before the operation.

But a spokesman said earlier that the eight-ounce plastic heart was designed only to keep a patient alive until a human heart donor could be found.

Mrs. Ewan was transferred to Houston at the request of one of her three daughters, Carol Burns of Lawrence, who accompanied her mother to Houston.

Mrs. Burns asked that her mother be transferred in response to Mrs. Karp's plea for a donor.

A potential donor was en route to the hospital from Cleveland Tex., Friday night but died of a blood clot just a few blocks from the medical center.

Complications prevented use of that heart, the spokesman said.

The mechanical heart was implanted in Karp's chest by Dr. Cooley after he determined that a severely damaged heart chamber could not be repaired.

Cooley said earlier he thought the artificial heart could function well for a month, but hoped it would be needed no longer than a week or 10 days.

Weatherman Shows Mid-Season 'Form'

Written all over it was "Clear and a little warmer tonight and sunny and warmer Tuesday."

Tonight's low will be in the 40s and tomorrow's high in the 60s.

Temperatures will average above normal through Saturday.

Hospital Report Lists Paul As 'Satisfactory'

Juanita Fosnaught, 15, of Beaver Falls, recipient of the other kidney of a 9-year-old girl who died at the hospital last week, also is "satisfactory."

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St., who have been with him at the hospital since last week. The family reported Paul talked quite a bit with his parents Sunday.

New Soviet Pressure On Romania Due

MOSCOW (AP) — Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu arrived in Moscow today for a visit during which the Kremlin is expected to put new pressure on his country's independent Communist leaders.

Official statements said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko invited Manescu for "a discussion of international problems." The visit comes at a time when the Kremlin is trying to line up support in preparation for the world Communist conference it plans to open in June in Moscow.

Communist informants say the Kremlin is annoyed at what it regards as Romania's defiant support of Red China in the Chinese-Soviet dispute, its strong opposition to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, and the cordial relations it maintains with West Germany and Israel.

One topic Manescu and Gromyko may discuss is the Soviet-Romanian friendship pact that expired last year. Although a clause automatically extends it for another five years, the Soviets want Romania to sign an-

Both Set Ablaze At New Orleans

25 Crewmen Are Missing In Freighter, Barge Crash

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A head-on collision between a Formosan frighter and an oil barge set both ablaze, sent sheets of flame soaring into a heavily traveled bridge and covered a section of the Mississippi river with burning petroleum Sunday night.

The Coast Guard said 25 of the 51 members of crew of the freighter, the 7,301-ton Union Faith, were unaccounted for. Twenty-five were taken to hospitals.

The fire-swept ship sank about six hours after the collision while being towed away for beaching.

The oil barge broke in two and the two fiercely burning sections floated downstream pursued by fire tugs. One section finally sank and the other ran aground. The barge carrying 9,000 barrels of crude oil was being pushed by the tug Warren Doucet.

The Coast Guard said all members of the tug's crew were accounted for.

Firemen hosed down wharves and ships in the area to prevent the spread of the blaze.

"It looked like the river was on fire," said Elysse Landry, a crewman on a dredger working near the scene.

"Now I know what it would be like riding through hell," said

By The Associated Press

Two fires over the Easter weekend took the lives of 21 persons. Eleven died when fire swept an aging wooden tenement in Bridgeport, Conn., and 10 perished in a blaze touched off by a kerosene explosion at Oakwood Bayou, Ark.

Police called the Bridgeport fire "the city's worst fire disaster in memory." Most of the victims were trapped on the top floor of the 12-family frame house destroyed by the blaze. Six of the dead were children.

Five children and five adults who were attending a family gathering died when flames raced through a frame house in the Arkansas delta town of Oakwood Bayou.

McCormack Prods Nixon On Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., prodded the Nixon administration today to speed up its recommendations to Congress.

Emphasizing that he meant no criticism of Nixon, McCormack said in a statement that Congress and the new President "can best act by the executive expediting messages and reports as quickly as possible."

Without mentioning criticism of Congress for having done little during its first three months in session, McCormack said that to date the legislative branch "has made fine progrtss."

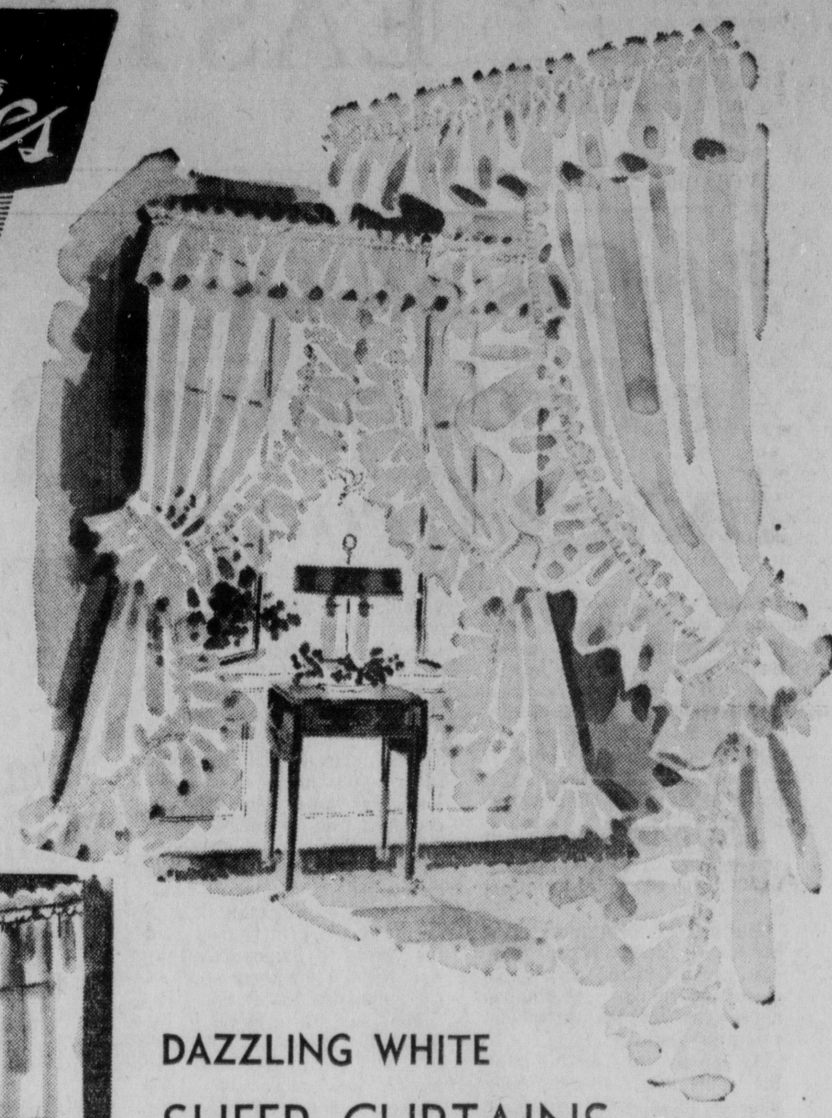

"As a practical matter," he said, "it is exceedingly difficult for the leadership in Congress to formulate a legislative program and timetable . . . until it has before it those recommendations which the President has to submit to the Congress."

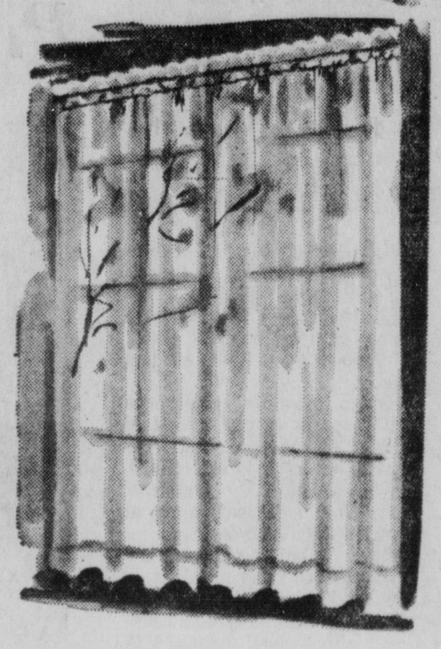

McCormack's prod came on the heels of a weekend statement by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills that his House Ways and Means Committee will start writing tax reform legislation before the end of the month even if Nixon

Doesn't Really Have Presidential Bug

Muskie Does Not Intend To Drop Political Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he really doesn't have the presidential bug, but nevertheless has no intention of dropping the nationwide political tours that give him the appearance of having an itch for the White House.

"I find the response enthusiastic enough, warm enough so that I have no disposition to cut off this kind of activity," the Maine Democrat said in an interview about the increasing number of political appearances he has made in recent months.

Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate, has made dozens of speeches at colleges and political affairs in nearly 30 states over the last three months in what observers see as an attempt to build a power base for a 1972 presidential run.

When asked about this, Muskie said:

"They say I have the presidential bug. I really don't. But the more involved my explanations get, the more I get stuck with the bug. And I know what I'm saying now will find its way into countless headlines across the country."

He went on: "It might be better not to comment at all, but then I would be accused of a lack of candor.

"If I had a decision to make today, I'd probably say 'No.' But I don't have to say 'No' today. I don't have to say 'Yes.' So I don't say either.

"I really don't know if I want to be a candidate for president. But I'm not ready to reject it."

Victory Fete Planned For Arch Moore

A regional victory celebration honoring Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. of West Virginia will be held at 6:30 p.m. April 26 at the McLure Hotel in Wheeling.

A reception, dinner and dance is being planned by Republican leaders of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler counties.

According to Howard V. Corcoran of Wheeling, state Republican finance chairman, George Lesho of Weirton has been named general chairman of arrangements.

Aiding him will be Northern Panhandle Republican executive committee chairman and Republican county finance chairmen. Duke Horstemeyer, also of Weirton, has been named chairman of publicity.

Corcoran said the county executive committee chairmen and county finance chairman will organize committees within their counties for the distribution and sale of tickets.

He said anyone purchasing a $100 reception ticket who is not a member of the West Virginia Republican Century Club will automatically become a member.

2 Motorists Charged In City Mishaps

Two drivers were cited during investigations of three mishaps over the weekend, police reported today.

One was charged Saturday afternoon when his auto struck a parked car at Lincoln Ave. and E. 8th St.

Ronald M. Waite, 37, of 314 Garfield St. was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control after his 1960 sedan struck a parked 1965 auto owned by Randy Sfakis of 407 Almont St.

Waite told police he was proceeding south on Lincoln Ave., swerved to the right and struck Sfakis' vehicle.

The mishap, at 7:52 a.m., occurred at Dresden Ave. and Trentvale St.

Gary Lee Casto, 22, of 780 Woodlawn Ave. told officers his 1961 sedan went out of control, hit the sign post and slid broadside about 75 feet. There was damage to the right side and frame of his auto.

Casto was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control.

About 1 p.m. Saturday two autos collided at E. 5th St. and Broadway, resulting in minor damage to both cars.

Olivia L. Pierpoint Wilson, 23, of Wellsville told police she was stopped in the line of traffic when her vehicle was struck from behind by another operated by Vermal Edward McComas, 45, of 139 Beechwood St.

McComas told patrolmen his windshield fogged and he didn't see Mrs. Wilson's car in time to stop. There was minor damage to the trunk lid of the Wilson auto and the right front hood of McComas' vehicle.

The Czechs And Their Oppressor

The people of Czechoslovakia continue to give the world a revealing look at how the Soviet Union stamps on or stamps out freedom — even the desire for it.

Their joy, which resulted from the Czech hockey team's defeat of the Russian team in a match in Sweden, triggered demonstrations and celebrations which became anti-Russian in nature.

REACTING QUICKLY, the Russians imposed censorship on the news media in Czechoslovakia, closed some newspapers and confiscated copies of others.

They have told the Czechs, in essence, to prevent further anti-Russian demonstrations or face troop action. They reportedly also told the Czechs that if their ultimatum is ignored they will run down future demonstrators with tanks.

Czechoslovakia is a nation in agony and the Russians would keep it that way.

The Czech leaders are in an almost unbearable position as they strive to keep their people from infuriating the Russians to the extent that they will reoccupy the country totally.

Though their hearts be with their people, the leaders must seemingly, at least, cooperate with the Russian overseers.

WITH THEIR NEWS MEDIA controlled, the Czechs could go underground and publish papers aimed at keeping alive the spirit of liberalization which seeks full expression within the country.

This would be extremely hazardous and require great bravery. But there have been freedom fighters in other subjugated nations who prized freedom above life itself.

The nations of the world are standing on the sidelines. But most of them are cheering for Czechoslovakia.

'Bridge-Itis' Worsens

The collapse of two bridges in Pennsylvania last week—one resulting in the death of a trucker—recalls once more the uncertain margin of safety in vintage spans.

In both cases, the trucks were overweight rigs, one by five tons and the other by nine tons. Each bridge had a 15-ton load limit.

Truckers who knowingly violate such restrictions and hauling firms which require them to do so at the risk of the lives of the drivers and other motorists deserve the full punishment of the law.

However, increasing traffic and the size and weight vehicles calls for an enlargement of the highway capabilities in all states. Columbiana County Engineer Bert Dawson this week revealed there are 170 spans in the county rated below 12 ton load limits.

More and more we are becoming throttled by "bridge-itis—" a chronic inability to carry normal traffic over valleys and streams. The most serious example, of course, is the Chester structure which has been placed under a 2½-ton limit for over a year. Last week's collapses in Pennsylvania stirred new concerns for the actual safety factor in the Chester Bridge.

In any event, the bridge problem is one which will have to be solved with a carefully planned schedule and implemented with adequate funds. As yet, we have seen no real evidence of either effort being applied toward a new Ohio River crossing.

A Matter Of Choice

A strong push from Ohio legislators is needed to keep a bill seeking to liberalize the state's abortion law from going down the drain as it did in the last session of the General Assembly.

The proposal currently is being debated in the House Health, Education and Welfare Committee.

LEGISLATORS ARE being hit with a barrage of letters opposing the measure which seeks to permit abortion in cases where there is a substantial risk that: the mother's mental or physical health would be adversely affected by continued pregnancy; a defective baby would be born and when the pregnancy was caused by rape or incest.

Opponents also have been vocal at public hearings which is certainly their privilege and is to be expected.

The surprising thing about the abortion debate is that lawmakers have failed to see that standard arguments point clearly to one conclusion: abortion is a matter of individual choice.

Women have testified on both sides of the issue; doctors have testified on both sides of the issue as have legislators and theologians. Strong beliefs exist in favor of abortion reform and against abortion liberalization.

So where does that leave the legislator?

He has these facts to work with: the present law is not adequate (abortions are performed all the time — some with serious consequences); doctors attempting to act in the best interest of their patients find themselves on the wrong side of he law; those with financial means get around the law by having abortions performed where they are legal; the fact it cannot be proved or disproved when a fetus has a "soul," means the decision is based upon an individual's conscience and a liberalized law would not force abortion on anyone who objected to it for religious or other reasons.

IT IS INCREDIBLE that an archaic law that forces mental and physical pain and dishonesty upon so many people would be so difficult to change.

In the final analysis, the legislator must realize that approval of the bill sponsored by Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-Maumee, does not force abortion upon those who reject it, but to vote against it imposes improper restrictions on those whose beliefs would permit abortion in specific cases.

Spring-A-Ling

April's promise of the warmth and beauty of another season's scattering spring fever cases about with the reckless abandon of a frightened flower girl racing down a church aisle with her rose petals flying every which way.

Daydreaming is commonplace.

For some reason, people are finding it easier to think about a favorite fishing spot, a special hiking trail or getting their boat out of dry dock than to concentrate on the business at hand.

Yard work at this time of year is a labor of love. Later on, as the grass shoots up at breakneck speed and weeds infiltrate flower gardens everytime your back is turned, lawn chores become just plain labor. Right now though, any outdoor work is a welcome break from the winter stay-in.

At the turn of the century, standard treatment for spring fever was: two ounces of sulphur, two ounces of molasses, mixed and downed before breakfast.

Thanks to modern technology, advance medical research and long hours of philosophical brainwork, the current advice about spring fever is: Don't try to treat it. Just enjoy it.

Isn't progress wonderful?

The Chart Gap

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Whenever the Defense Department has to convince our lawmakers that the vital interests of the United States are in danger, they resort to elaborate displays of charts. The development, stockpiling and delivery of charts is one of the most critical activities the Pentagon is involved in.

Art Buchwald

Through a close friend in the Pentagon, I was permitted to visit a top-secret Defense Department Chart Testing Center where all charts are tested before they are sent up to Capitol Hill.

The general in charge of the center said, "We've been working day and night on charts for the ABM congressional hearings. It's probably the biggest job we've had, but one misfired chart and the whole system could go up in smoke."

"IS THIS WHY THE CENTER is located so far from population centers?"

"Exactly. We don't want the taxpayers to know what we're doing. Also we have to watch security. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has built a chart system of its own. We believe our charts are still more reliable than theirs but we have to be ready with a second-strike capability in case they launch a damaging first-strike chart offensive."

"How did the charts the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee unveiled at the ABM hearings last week differ from yours?"

The general smiled. "They were very primitive—what we could call 'first generation' charts. You probably noticed their charts were so large that Sen. Gore was unable to reach the top of them with his pointer.

NOW, WE'VE BEEN IN the chart business a lot longer than the Senate, so we've managed to take advantage of the great strides in miniaturization, and our smaller charts can be launched from any easel with the same impact as their large ones. We can launch four charts to their one; or, if you want to put it another way, one Pentagon chart represents an overkill of 13 Senate charts."

"What are those men doing over there?"

"They're training for chart turning."

"I beg your pardon?"

"The military has its own chart turners, who have to know when to turn a chart to the exact second. If you turn a chart too early, you lose the impact of it, and if you turn it too late, your audience could get bored."

"It must require a great deal of skill," I said.

"All of our chart turners have been to the National War College and have been personally interviewed by Adm. Rickover. If you recall, a few weeks ago when Sen. Gore's subcommittee produced its charts against the ABM system, they had to press their chief counsel and his assistant into service as chart turners. It was a disaster."

"WHAT IS THAT BUILDING over there with the machine guns on it and all the MPs around it?"

"That's where we're developing a new top-secret automatic chart-turning machine. Once it is deployed, no Senate committee will dare to attack a Defense Department budget."

"But won't this spiral the chart race and force the subcommittee to develop its own automatic chart turner?"

The general said, "When the security of the Pentagon is at stake, we are not interested in chart parity."

VICTOR RIESEL

Ike's Labor Views Return

WASHINGTON — Could be my old friend Quentin Reynolds was right when he wrote during an ancient war that the wounded don't cry. Maybe not. I know I wept from wounds on in a later war against an enemy as evil as the forces burned to the ground in Europe. It was back in '56, but the pains did ease when the call came through from President Dwight Eisenhower.

Victor Riesel

The General had just phoned J. Edgar Hoover, and talked of "this Mafia" which was rotting the nation. Like so many phenomena of civilian life, the Mafia's hold on this nation amazed him. Come down when the bandages are off, he said — and then in afterthought, he asked how he was "doing with the labor people."

Fine, sir, said I, just fine . . .you always have.

Indeed he had, despite reports of the columnists and observers and those who always expected Churchillian wit and style from men history hammers into heroes.

There was a pattern in General Eisenhower's relationship with the powerful American labor movement which cut its die on Richard Nixon. So the past is prelude.

In the beginning, it was pleasantly different for the General than it was —and is — for Richard Nixon. Liberal politicos and intellectuals did not paint "Ike" as an antediluvian until he ran against Adlai Stevenson and Strontium 90.

AS A GENERAL, Dwight Eisenhower opened conquered Germany to American labor leaders and their representatives eager to build a powerful pro-Western labor movement.

By 1948—during the Philadelphia Democratic nominating convention — all the consequential liberals were for his nomination for president. They wanted to dump Harry Truman. And they were a powerful band — Mrs. Roosevelt, Jimmy Roosevelt, the Americans for Democratic Action, Dave Dubinsky, and until the last moment, Walter Reuther.

The General demurred. President Truman forgave. Four years later, Mr. Truman demurred. But by this time, the labor chiefs had discovered Adlai Stevenson. After the political V-Day, President Eisenhower forgave.

His postelection headquarters were in New York City's proletarian Hotel Commodore, which rattled occasionally over the New York Central tracks. When Mr. Eisenhower was about to appoint a Secretary of Labor, he talked with AFL President George Meany there.

Two of the President-elect's suggestions were labor leaders. Finally he appointed the late Marty Durkin, then president of the plumbers union. When Mr. Durkin resigned, the President named the late Jim Mitchell, so devoted to the labor movement that the union chiefs still call him the best secretary ever appointed.

A FEW DAYS AFTER the General's inauguration, CIO leader Walter Reuther asked to see him. The auto union leader came along with a colleague. They asked him what his policy would be. Would he use the presidency as a base for an offensive against labor? "Ike" said he would not be "reactionary." He added he'd be neutral. He'd go down the middle of the road.

Unlike Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt, the General wanted to stay out of the labor relations business. He wanted to be the business agent of all the people. He did not want the White House in strike settlements. But neither did he want to isolate himself from labor.

Sixteen years later, President-elect Nixon, at New York's Hotel Pierre, spoke similarly with George Meany and Walter Reuther — separately of course.

When the "movement" dedicated three stained-glass windows — to the Jewish Sam Gompers, the Catholic Phil Murray and the Protestant William Green — President Eisenhower came to the National Cathedral, from which he was carried in such solemnity for his final trip home.

IN APRIL 1955, when the AFL asked him to lay he cornerstone for its building, overlooking Lafayette Square, he came. In June 1956, when the AFL-CIO asked him to honor the building's dedication, he came. That day he went up to Mr. Meany's new office and looked out across the trees to his own White House, on which he said he had a "leasehold." Standing alongside him, the needle trades union President Dave Dubinsky said, "Mr. President, we built this here so we could keep an eye on you." The President roared.

When, during the most tense moments of the U-2 crisis, the AFL-CIO leaders invited him to join them at the opening of the union label show, he came, he sat with George Meany, he pointed to a big speedboat and quietly said, "George, that's the kind of craft I was going to give Khrushchev in Moscow."

When, during his last full day in office, the President was telephoned by Mr. Meany for a few words of farewell between two leaders, "Ike" said, come on over — and they sat together talking in the Oval Room for an hour and a half.

Yet President Eisenhower and the "movement" had fought. He was opposed to a dollar-an-hour minimum wage — sticking to 90 cents. He signed the Landrum-Griffin "disclosure" bill. He was a "tight money" man. There were pools of jobless.

They never considered him an ally. But they never thought of him as an enemy set for a tough showdown confrontation with organized labor.

This was the pattern set by Dwight D. Eisenhower. His vice president saw it cast. It will be, it seems to me, Richard Nixon's pattern too.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Just A Good American

WASHINGTON — Four days of mourning and the services at the national capital were in keeping with the two posts Dwight David Eisenhower held—supreme commander of the allied armies in Europe during World War II and president of the United States.

But the fifth day—focused on Abilene, Kan.—perhaps made an even greater impression on the American people.

For the illusion that American presidents emerge from an atmosphere of wealth or intellectual sophistication was swept aside as the story became known of just what contributed to the rise of a farm boy to the highest place any American has attained in world history in recent years.

MANY PERSONS may have been aware that "Ike", came from Kansas but they didn't learn the background until the obituaries and television specials began to portray the scenes where he spent his early life.

The United States is a vast territory but some who seek to chart its course or change its habits and customs seem to feel that people in all sections of the country think alike or react the same way to the aberrations of youth and regard rebelliousness as just "free speech."

Dwight Eisenhower never lost the viewpoint which he acquired in day-by-day experience as he grew up in a small town and worked so that he could help pay for the education of a brother.

President Nixon, is his eulogy at the Capitol rotunda Sunday, recalled that Gen. Eisenhower, shortly after the war ended in 1945, was honored in London and that in his address he remarked: "I came from the heart of America."

"Perhaps no one sentence," added Mr. Nixon, "could better sum up what Dwight Eisenhower meant to a whole generation of Americans. He did come from the heart of America, not only from its geographical heart but from its spiritual heart."

Plenty of essays are being written which assume that the lessons of the past no longer apply and that change is necessary if only for the sake of change. But some of these commentators never seem to have observed at firsthand the character and attitudes of the average citizen across the land.

Much can be learned in schools and colleges but direct contact with the people every day, especially as one works for his living alongside others, is often even more educational.

City life may produce frustrations, particularly in the exceptionally crowded centers, as today more than 70 per cent of the population of the United States lives on a little over one per cent of its land.

But American life—its true character and its undiminished patriotism—is best understood by talks with people in small communities where individual achievement, however unspectacular, still is regarded with respect.

Former President Eisenhower gave an interview in October of 1965 to Merriman Smith who covers the White House for the United Press International but it was not published until last Sunday. Mr. Eisenhower is quoted as saying in part:

"What I am more interested in today than anything else is the moral strength of the United States. Not merely that I'm taking about behavior. These are symptoms. These riots in Berkeley and gang warfare and juvenile delinquency are more symptoms.

"WE HAVE TO REVIVE our respect for such words as patriotism, dedication to country and so on—and, as a matter of fact, I hate to see youngsters going to college today dressed like tramps. I believe that to be sloppy forever about everything means that you're going to be sloppy in your thinking. . . .

"Now I'd like to think that we live by such words as decency and fairness and, well, you might say realization that each of us is a member of the proudest nation in the world and then act that way. I believe that we've got to think a little bit more about good citizenship."

other one presumably to annoy Red China.

However, the Romanians are expected to stall on the pact, at least until after the June conference, in order to preserve their official policy of strict neutrality in the Moscow-Peking dispute.

In practice, Romania's Communists are friendly with the Chinese in private gatherings and sympathetic in the press unlike other Moscow-wary Communist countries.

"The Chinese do not send troops into other countries and they do not assert their allies have limited sovereignty," Communist officials in the Romanian capital of Bucharest say.

After the disfavor that resulted from their invasion of Czechoslovakia last August, the Soviets are thought unlikely to be contemplating a similar move against Romania.

Collision

Mrs. Arnold Regoufffre, who was in a car with her husband when the flames swept up from the river 175 feet below.

The Union Faith, with an all-Oriental crew and carrying a cargo of salt, cotton cloth, toys, handbags, household goods and footwear, was headed upstream.

The oil barge was one of three being pushed downstream by the tug.

"I happened to look," said Landry, "and I said 'Look, the ship is going to run into those barges. Then they collided, followed by an explosion.

"The whole front end of the ship blew up into fire and smoke and you could hardly see the ship. The pilot house was burning in three or four minutes."

A radio operator on the freighter, Yu Fang Fan, 35, said he felt a "tremendous collision" and "I looked outside to see what happened, but there was fire and smoke all around."

Yu said he was rescued when a tugboat pulled alongside the ship after he had yelled out the porthole for help. He said at least one more crewman also climbed out through the porthole.

Harbor officials feared that wharves and other ships along the wharves would be ignited by the oil-fed fires.

"It looked bad," said E. S. Reed, acting port director. One ship was moved from the area and preparations were made to move others, but firefighters kept the sides of threatened vessels sprayed with foam and water and none caught fire.

"I heard an explosion and the whole sky lit up," said John Buela, 42, a bridge patrolman.

Motorists on the bridge saw flames lapping up on both sides of the structure.

The river is three-fourths of a mile wide where the bridge spans it.

Buela was parked in his patrol cruiser on one of the bridge approaches. He and patrolman Ray Brewer, in another car on the other side, rushed to the center span.

"There was a second explosion and the flames engulfed the center of the traffic deck," said Brewer. By then all cars had been cleared from this area.

About two hours after the collision the bridge, which connects New Orleans with West Bank suburban areas, was reopened.

The 25 crewmen in hospitals were reported suffering primarily from minor burns and smoke inhalation.

The collision was the second on the Mississippi River in four months involving a Nationalist Chinese freighter.

Nixon reportedly has told leaders of both the House and Senate that he hopes to present his budget recommendations and some other major legislative proposals soon after Congress returns from its current Easter vacation a week from today.

McCormack said he made his observations "in the spirit of having close coordination between the Congress and President Nixon."

During the first three months of the new Congress in 1967, he added, Johnson sent 23 messages dealing with major legislation.

Eleven messages have been sent to Congress by President Nixon since he took office on Jan. 20, McCormack noted, and only eight of them included legislative recommendations.

2 Entries Bring Thieves $50 Here

Two buildings were broken into some time Sunday. One was vandalized and money was taken in the second.

George Serago of Surburban Heights, Wellsville, reported $50 was taken from a desk drawer at the Speedy Car Wash between 6:15 p.m. Saturday and 8:15 this morning. Thieves entered the building through a skylight and made their way into the office through a window.

The burglary was discovered by the manager, Ralph Yanni Jr., and William E. Cain, an employe. The owner's daughter, Cheryl, discovered the cash was missing.

Two envelopes containing the money had been removed from the desk. He said the thieves apparently were familiar with the layout of the building, since everything was "left very neatly."

The Resource Center in the old Garfield School building on State St. was vandalized between 5:45 and 11 p.m. Sunday, police reported.

Mrs. Dan Henderson, director, told officers someone entered through a basement window and ransacked the office, drank pop and broke a wire on an electric typewriter.

Judge Grants Continuance For Man In Arson Charge

Municipal Court Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today continued indefinitely the case of George Bradford Fox, 48, of Mt. Morris, Pa., who has been charged with arson.

The judge returned the ruling after Fox' attorney, Lawrence Smith, and Asst. Prosecutor Robert Simpson conferred on the matter and Simpson agreed to withdraw the arson charge and substitute one for malicious destruction of property, to which Fox pleaded not guilty.

Fox was sent to Woodside Receiving Hospital in Youngstown last month for examination after he allagedly attempted to set fire to his room in the Ceramic Hotel Feb. 18. The charge was filed by Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne. He had been returned to jail last Wednesday.

The indefinite continuance came after Judge Chertoff learned that Fox's brother, Thomas Fox of Akron, would attempt to get the man into a veterans hospital for psychiatric treatment. Fox told the judge he may be able to get his brother into the Leesville hospital. Fox was released into his brother's custody.

The arson charge was filed after a blaze broke out in Fox's room and he was rescued from the roof of a nearby building. Authorities said at the time he said he was attempting to escape from unknown persons who were "after him."

In another case, Roy Anthony of Wellsville RD 1, was fined $25 and costs on charges of assault and battery filed by Patrolman Homer (Clyde) Dillon.

Dillon said he was present when Anthony struck a city resident about 1:02 a.m. today at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Dillon said he "tried to calm him down," but Anthony then punched the man. The couple told the Judge this morning Anthony had been calling the man's wife on the phone and an argument had been carried on downtown before the East End incident.

Slide Undermines Home

"It looks now as if I will tear the house down," said Howard Wheatley, owner of this house at 335 W. 7th St. damaged when the earth and part of the foundation caved in Saturday morning, almost completely covering three used cars owned by the C. & J. Motors.

Wheatley said he had not definitely made a decision, but it looks as if the house may have to be razed. He estimated the damage at $5,000, and said although he has insurance on the house, this particular damage may not be covered.

Damage to the three cars has been estimated at about $4,000 by Charles Carroll, owner of C. & J. Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall and their two children who were living in the house moved their furniture out Saturday. Hall, a truck driver for the city garbage collection department, and his family are staying temporarily with friends on the northside.

Wheatley has men at work this morning shoring-up the house in an attempt to prevent further damage.

Easter Seals Aid The Handicapped

Easter brings us once more an appeal from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults to support their program by buying Easter Seals. Perhaps we should get better acquainted with the excellent work this organization is doing. Even though several governmental and private agencies have joined in the effort to help the handicapped, the number of persons who are crippled is growing faster than the combined ability of these agencies to serve their very special needs.

Dr. Brandstadt

ONE REASON FOR this is that modern science has made it possible to save the lives of many babies whose handicaps in the past would have caused death in infancy. Another reason is the rapid increase in the total population.

—:—

A LARGE PART of the work being done by the society is rehabilitative. Before any meaningful program of rehabilitation can be effective, large numbers of young persons must be attracted to this field and given adequate training in physical, occupational or speech therapy. This the society is seeking to do. It is also working closely with the government and other agencies to prevent overlapping and duplication of effort.

DIRECT SERVICES to the handicapped include diagnostic clinics, treatment centers, aid to the housebound and sales outlets for products made by the crippled. Another valuable service is the provision of braces and crutches to children. These are returned when they are outgrown and exchanged for a larger size.

A SUMMER RESIDENTIAL and day camp program for crippled children is rapidly expanding. In addition o these activities, your Easter Seals support over 40 research grants in fields where more knowledge is needed to treat or prevent crippling diseases.

Q — I had a mild case of mumps in the first month of my pregnancy. Could his have any effect on my baby?

A — Although not so likely to cause birth defects as German measles, mumps in early pregnancy have been known to cause congenital heart defects in the baby.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

During Meeting Tonight

Big Slate Of Legislation Due For Council's Action

A big budget of proposed legislation is awaiting action by City Council at its first April meeting tonight.

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said he expects to present a minimum of seven and a maximum of nine ordinances and resolution, although most are concerned with comparatively routine matters.

He may present an amendment to the city's parking meter ordinance allowing installation of the devices on both sides of Washington St. between E. 3rd and E. 4th Sts., the south side of E. 4th St. between Walnut St. and Apple Alley and the north side of the same stretch between Walnut St. and Broadway.

The block - long stretch of Washington St. was given a new blacktop surface last year, covering a former brick "washboard." The affected area of E. 4th St. is in the vicinity of the former high school building, which was vacated by the public school system last fall. Parking formerly was prohibited to allow loading and unloading space for school buses.

COUNCIL also will consider an ordinance setting up a so-called "blanket bonding" program for public officials and employes. By purchasing the performance bonds from the same company, rather than individually, the city may save from $2,500 to $3,000 a year, the solicitor said.

Action also is slated on an ordinance to vacate LaBelle Terrace from the south line of Standley Way southwestward to the intersection with the east line of Eutaw Ave. The stretch is one of the dedicated but unused thoroughfares on the site of a tract near Maine Blvd. where the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority is scheduled to erect a 130-unit complex to provide housing for low-income families. Other streets in the affected area were vacated earlier.

Action also is due on an ordinance to fix the salary of the sewage department's utility - supplyman and put it on a par with the same post in the water department.

The job will pay $485 a month, retroactive to April 1, jumping to $514 on Jan. 1, 1970, and $550 on Jan. 1, 1971.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities to advertise for a year's supply of chemicals and other materials for use in the water and sewage departments.

The materials include 250 tons each of hydrate or pebble lime and aluminum sulphate, 50 tons of activated charcoal, 18,000 pounds of liquid chlorine, 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite, 100 water meters in various sizes and 6,000 feet of cast iron pipe ranging in size from 4-inch to 12-inch.

An ordinance will be introduced to transfer $10,000 to the state - administered police and fire pension funds — $5,000 for each department — and $10,000 to the materials and supplies account in the street department.

COUNCIL also will consider a resolution authorizing the city government to join the District 8 Council of Governments, a unit formed for the purpose of applying for federal police training funds under the federal safe streets act and crime control bill of 1968. The applications will be filed with the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, which has the task of administering the funds throughout the state.

The District 8 COG is comprised of communities and law enforcement agencies in Columbiana and Stark Counties.

Council also is due to act on an ordinance amending provisions for annual vacations of the members of the fire department, putting them on a par with members of the police department. Kapp said the change provides for time off for fractional years of employment, as is the case now in the police department.

Kapp said he also may draft legislation providing for payment of a claim against the city by the North Side Wildcat Oil & Gas Co., which alleged financial loss resulted when a piece of city equipment broke a pipe to a metering station in Thompson Park.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — Is there some way in which I can improve the appearance of a shabby-looking black umbrella?

A. — Try brushing over it with a solution of ammonia and warm water.

Q.—How can I do a neater job of darning?

A.—Try putting a piece of net on the underside of the garment to be darned, then darn from the wrong side, weaving in and out of the net. Gives you a real neat and strong repair job. Many other such tips for making life easier in and around the home are contained in my household-hints manual.

Q.—How can I thaw frozen meat quickly?

A.—Try wrapping it in an aluminum foil, then placing in a moderately hot oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

Q.—How can I preserve the natural color of knotty pine?

A.—By treating it with a half-and-half solution of turpentine and linseed oil. A thorough treatment should be allowed to dry for about two hours at least. Any excess may then be wiped off. Keep up the treatment, using a good clean brush, until the wood no longer absorbs the mixture.

employees since we could not realistically do so until the appropriations to operate the city for 1969 were complete. Our objective was to furnish services to the public, who are the taxpayers, and wage increases to all city employees right up to the limit of our tax revenue and other departmental resources. This we have done.

"During this period of preparing operating appropriations there has been irresponsible and dishonest publicity issued by those representing the Wellsville police. While we realize certain amounts of propaganda are apparently part of wage negotiations, we resent these erroneous presentations to the public, particularly in view of an agreement between police representatives and Council that no press releases would be made by either party during our negotiations. It is obvious to us and to the public that those representing the police have violated this understanding, and this statement—the police representative having been notified—terminates our wage discussions.

"Here are the facts:

"(1) The statement there is $95,000 in available funds with the insinuation the money could be used for police raises is false. They are aware, as we are, that only certain funds can be used to pay policemen, and that by law Council cannot use monies from other departments such as the Refuse Department, Sewage Dept., Floodwall, Cemetery, Water Department, Street Department, etc. to pay any policeman's salary.

"(2) The statement that the Police Department's initial request amounted to only $17,000 additional money is also false, since a conservative estimate would be $23,000 without even considering the request for another patrolman.

"(3) The theme used that the balance shown in the General Fund from 1968 could be used to pay policemen is certainly not accurate as they well know, or as any City Auditor could advise them. This, in our case must be used to apply against outstanding bills from 1968, County and State deductions which are withheld from the amounts the city receives, plus the fact that a large portion of this balance was unanticipated revenue which could not be used as a basis for sustaining wage increases.

"Council has worked into the limited resources a 10 per cent down the line wage increase for all regular city employees. This is fair. For the police specifically we have offered a 10 per cent increase, additional uniform allowance, two additional paid holidays, some appropriated overtime pay, compensatory time off for additional overtime plus an extra week vacation, a total of four weeks at 15 years service.

"We have bargained in good faith. In fact we gave those representing the police our appropriation sheets revealing all sources of income and disbursements prior to our completing them. We have allocated up to the penny all money in our General Fund, and we now respectfully request that the policemen who are off, apparently sick, at the taxpayers expense and in disregard of the public welfare, return to their jobs."

Traffic Jam Results From Bridge Limit

Automobiles — hundreds of them — creeped in a line nearly eight miles long Sunday in West Virginia and Pennsylvania as motorists, mostly from Ohio returning from the Easter holiday, cautiously crossed the Chester Bridge.

The gigantic "slowdown" lasted six and a-half hours.

Chester residents, who said traffic during the summer on Route 30 often is heavy, reported autos were backed up "bumper - to - bumper" from about 3 p.m. until 9:25 last night. Some said traffic was slowed at times as far as Laughlin's Corners in Pennsylvania, nearly eight miles distant.

There was no pause in the congestion.

"They started around 3 o'clock, and it wasn't just heavy, they were bumper-to-bumper," one Chester merchant reported. He added that his business was hurt because motorists caught in the snarl would not make an opening for local drivers to move through.

The autos crossed the bridge at a snail's pace, some stopping to read the signs before gingerly proceeding forward. The 45-foot spacing between vehicles was being maintained throughout.

Some residents said the entangled drivers ignored traffic lights and a motorist coming from a side street in Chester reportedly waited through three green lights before moving into the intersection. A minor accident resuled.

But at 9:25, as if a valve had been closed on a torrent of water, the autos disappeared down Carolina Ave. and traffic continued extremely light during the remainder of the night.

Man To Face Court Action

LISBON — Robert McKenzie, 46, of S. Lincoln Ave. Ext., will be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Columbiana County on a charge of sodomy.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said McKenzie was arrested Friday night after the chief, officer John Vokovich, Juvenile Court Probation Officer James Miller and Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis questioned three juvenile boys and an 18-year-old youth at Village Hall.

McKenzie, a laborer who lives alone, notified police Friday night he had been robbed by four youths at his home. He furnished the license number of the car. A St. Clair Township constable stopped the car and the sheriff's department returned the boys to Lisbon for questioning.

Police said the 18-year-old told them he had been at McKenzie's house before and he took the others there Friday night to show them a swimming pool the man is constructing in his basement.

Approximately $11 which McKenzie claimed was stolen was recovered. The boys said they asked the man for money for gasoline. No charges were filed against the boys, all from the East Liverpool area.

McKenzie was released from the County Jail Saturday after making $1,000 bond.

Gale Gordon Finds Peace In The Desert

Cecil Smith

The spindly ocotillos sprout scarlet tips to long, wavery fingers; the lupin and poppies and tiny bell flowers carpet the valley.

Up the road a piece on his Tub Canyon Farm lives the mayor of Borrego Springs, Gale Gordon.

HIS CONSTITUENTS are about 1,000 permanent residents whose homes appear suddenly in the cacti or cluster around lush golf courses in this 45,000-acre private island surrounded by the vast, historic wilderness area of the Anza-Borrego State Park.

During the year, some 450,000 people visit the park in hopes of seeing the bighorn sheep leap the mountain crags or to look down into the frightening, wind-carved sandstone desolation of the Borrego badlands or to see dinosaur tracks or search for relics left 200 years ago when De Anza brought the first colonists to California through this valley and where the first European child was born.

FOR 13 YEARS while he has been a solid spine to one comedy series after another ("Our Miss Brooks," "The Brothers," "Dennis the Menace," "Here's Lucy," Gale and his actress wife, Virginia, have lived here in what he calls "a temporary three-room shack."

The site long has been cleared for their permanent home, but they've never gotten around to building it.

Too many things to do— Gale loves to work with tools, and there was his work shop to build a well to sink, a swimming pool, another swimming pool for their collection of eight mongrel dogs ("The result," sayd Gale, "of unplanned parenthood"), car ports, sheds, fences, pipelines. The house has been put off.

A REMARKABLY disciplined man as well as one of the finest comedy actors of this era, Gale's routine rarely varies.

He finishes his week's work on the studio sets, hops in his Porsche and zips through the horse country around Corona over the mountain plateau of the Warner Ranch, down the new Montezuma Highway carved out of the mountainside above Tub Canyon to his book-lined "shack."

Virginia seldom leaves the farm, even when the searing summer heat sends the temperature soaring.

"People ask what I find to do," she said. "You can spend afternoons watching the desert colors change. Or counting varieties of birds — I counted 67 last year. There are not hours enough in the day for all the things to do."

NOW THAT TV seasons grow shorter, Gale spends more and more time on the farm. He turns down offers for movies or TV guest roles on the off-season. Only charitable causes can pull him away, like a recent flight to Louisville, Ky., to make a speech to spearhead a cancer fund drive.

He keeps a small house in Hollywood, but Borrego is home.

Gale came to Borrego 40 years ago in search of 10 lost acres. His mother, English actress Gloria Gordon, had bought them for speculation but no one knew where they were.

Gale couldn't find them then, and in subsequent trips over the years he found no sign of his mother's land. Meanwhile, as people do, he fell in love with the desert.

"WHEN I BOUGHT Tub Canyon," he said, "I brought an expert surveyor down to check my property lines, and while he was here I sent him to look for Mother's land. He couldn't find it.

"Just a few years ago, a man wrote me asking if he could have an easement for a road over Mother's 10 acres to his property. I told him I'd give him the easement if he'd show it to me. Now, at last, I know where it is."

Some people are frightened by the desert. The solitude disturbs them. Across the mountains at Palm Springs there is glitter and clamor and neon dazzle where tourists and movie stars gamble.

Crash Killing 5 Hikes Road Deaths To 31

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) —Three couples, all friends for years, had left Easter church services and were motoring along Interstate 71 to a restaurant here for lunch when their car and a truck collided.

Five persons were killed and another was near death.

Lone survivor in the car, former Ohio American Legion Commander Floyd Hartpence, 71, Westerville, remained in critical condition today at Grant Hospital in Columbus.

The accident Sunday, which claimed the lives of Hartpence's wife, Beulah, 71, and four other persons, all from Westerville, helped boost Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to 31.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the accident was the most tragic in the state since February 1968 when a car-truck took the lives of six persons—five in one family—in Williamstown, Hancock County.

Other victims in Sunday's mishap were William Steele and his wife, Louise, the driver of the car, and Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt.

The truck driver, Paul Metheny, 42, Rt. 1, Sullivan, was in fair condition at Morrow County Hospital in Mount Gilead.

The patrol said the car was headed north on Interstate 71 when it crossed the median strip and collided with the southbound truck, which turned over on its side.

Hartpence's term as commander of the Ohio Legion ended in 1942 when he became superintendent of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home in Xenia. He held the latter post a number of years.

All three men were members Legion Post.

Various Reports Are Given During NAACP Meeting

Various reports, including membership and the Freedom Fund, were heard at the meeting of the East Liverpool branch of the NAACP Saturday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex on Broadway. Byron Carter, vice president, presided.

Miss Helen Maxie, membership chairman, reported 12 new members.

Mrs. Carter, secretary, read communications from Mrs. Jane Shagaloff, director from the national office of education, who informed the local branch that visual aid material on Afro-American history is now available from a widely-known publishing company.

The Rev. Paul Randall, education committee chairman, said that the chapter will act on the matter at the next committee meeting.

A moment of silent prayer was held in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The next meeting will be May 3 at 8 p.m., with the public invited.

Groundbreaking Slated On Flood Control Project

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Groundbreaking for the $10 million Athens flood protection project is scheduled here Saturday.

The Huntington District U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plans to move about 5.5 miles of the Hocking River to the south of its present channel.

The river now runs through the southern edge of Athens, including a large portion of the Ohio University campus.

"Rechanneling the river should eliminate about 86 per cent of the spring flood damages by enlarging the drainage capacity of the channel," according to Don Johnson, secretary of the Hocking Conservancy District.

The project is expected to take about two years to complete.

Youth Will Be Sent To Ohio Reformatory

LISBON — Floyd E. Gilmore, 20, of Route 30, Lisbon RD 1, is in the County Jail awaiting transfer to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield to serve 1 to 15 years for burglary.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sentenced him last week after finding he violated all conditions of probation granted last June 13.

Gilmore asked for probation after pleading guilty in February 1968 to a charge of burglary Dec. 25, 1967, at the Buckeye Beverage Store on N. Beaver St.

Police Investigate Dynamite Explosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Lyndhurst police were investigating today a dynamite explosion in a $60,000 house under construction. The blast ripped open the rear of the structure Sunday night. No one was injured.

Police said the house, scheduled to be completed this week, was one of two under construction in the area by the Leshko Construction Co.

Hancock Sheriff Count Gets Under Way Again

Hancock County commissioners resumed examining ballots at 1 p.m. today in the long - contested sheriff's race.

Commissioner Joseph Manypenny of New Cumberland said members of the county court began working on Precinct 6 as the contest, filed by Democrat Lou Smoleski resumed.

The question of who is sheriff has been tied up in the courts for three months. The election was held five months ago.

Thursday when commissioners last met, they denied a request to throw out the ballots in Precincts 1 and 2. At the same time commissioners deferred action on two other notices on behalf of Republican sheriff Ralph Patrick.

Patrick succeeded Smoleski to the office Feb. 10 after the matter was taken to the West Virginia Supreme Court, but Smoleski won approval from the high court last month to contest the election held in November.

There were no changes in vote totals Thursday.

The rulings the commissioners delayed action on included a motion for a bill of particulars and a demurrer to strike and dismiss the election contest served on Patrick.

Atty. Richard Barnes, one of Patrick's lawyers, said the election notice is not sufficient in law and states no direct or precise allegations. He noted Smoleski is using the examination of ballots in an attempt to lay a basis for a contest.

Atty. Frank Cuomo, counsel for Patrick, in objecting to a delay in ruling on the two matters told commissioners the bill of particulars "goes to the heart of the election contest." It would, he added, give Patrick notice concerning what he is confronted with in order to prepare a defense.

Thursday night "commissioners denied a motion for payment of salaries and re-instatement of Smoleski's deputies.

Prosecutor Edward Zagula, according to Manypenny, has taken the two months to study them and will advise commissioners on how to act.

Rhythm In Religion

STELLENBOSCH, South Africa (AP) — The Anglican church in this sleepy Cape Province town was packed when Rev. Gerard Beaumont, newly arrived from England, organized South Africa's first jazz church service. ANN LANDERS

Inspiration For Blind

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I cannot truthfully say I read the letter signed "A Friend's Friend." It was read to me by Bill Fitzgerald, a colleague in the Michigan House of Representatives. I'm blind.

I was interested in theletter, as Bill knew I would be, because it concerned a mother whose son had decided tomarry a blind girl. The question was raised: "What if they have children?"

My wife, Jennie, who is also blind, married me 27 years ago. (We met in Michigan's School for the Blind in Lansing.) Jennie andI had 10 children — every one of them with perfect vision and in excellent health. Our life together has been wonderful. Our oldest child is 24. Our youngest is 7. We have two grandhildren.

In my 15 years as an elected member of the Michigan State House of Representatives, I've made countless trips from Lansing to Detroit. I used to travel with my Seeing-Eye dog. I now travel alone.

I hope "Friend's Friend" sees this and stops worrying about what blind people can't do. ROBERT D. MAHONEY, 6th DISTRICT.

Dear Robert Mahoney: Thank you for an inspiring letter. And thank you, too, for the photograph of your family. The girls arelovely! The boys are handsome. You and Mrs. Mahoney have a great deal to be proud of.

Hard Worker

Dear Ann: I'm a boy, 18, a freshman in college. I never cut classes, I take good notes, and I do a considerable amount of outside study. Yet my grades are not better than average.

I know kids who cut like crazy, sleep during lectures, never have owned a notebook, and their grades are consistently better than mine.

Today I got back a psychology exam. I made a 78. The kid next to me got a 99. When I asked if he studied for the exam, he said, "Of course not. I faked it."

I'm ready to start "faking it" and see what happens. I bet I'll be on prbation before you can say "Wilhelm Wundt."

What's the secret of making good grades besides pure study? Is there some secret to it? Thanks for any help you can give me.—BEGGING FOR A C.

Dear Beg: First accept the fact that "all men are created equal" doesn't apply to educational aptitude. Some students soak up information like a blotter and retain nearly all of it. Others must work their heads to the bone in order to comprehend half of what they read and hear and then they forget three-fourths of that within six hours.

If you slave as hard as you claim and make only average grades, my advice is to keep plugging. You will form work habits which will prove far more valuable than a flashy grade point average.

I also suggest that you have a talk with your professors and ask them why you must knock yourself out to get mediocre grades. You might pick up some useful clues.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Your Diamond Birthstone

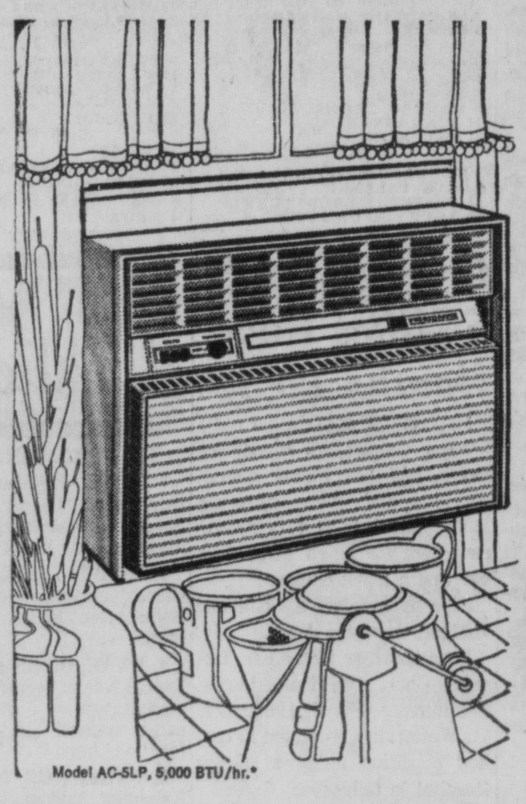

Lucky is the man or woman who celebrates their birthday in April for their special birthstone is the brilliant diamond. While we are all familiar with the diamond as the symbol of marital happiness, as the April birthstone, diamond is a victory talisman said to endow the wearer with superior strength and courage.

An anonymous Roman poet wrote many many centuries ago, "The evil eye shall have no power to harm, him that shall wear the diamond as a charm." The Greeks knew diamond as "adamas" - - unconquerable, and considered it as being the most valuable of properties. Another legend claimed diamond as a special amulet for women in childbirth, and it is still a tradition in some families to gift the new mother with a diamond when a baby is born. Some diamonds have even altered the course of history, such as the "Shah of Persia" owned by the Soviet Union. It was an indemnity paid by Persia for the murder of a Russian Ambassador. "The Regent Diamond", owned by France, was pledged to Holland for war funds and later placed in the state sword of Napoleon.

There are many ways in which the April-born may wear their diamond birthstone for this is our most versatile gem. Being durable, it is excellent for rings, cuff links, and all types of fine jewelry. It is really an excellent investment in beauty, one that will bring pleasure for you now, and generations to come.

Should She Paint House Yellow?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A sure sign of spring is house fever. People talk to themselves and they begin to ask questions.

". . .what do you think about painting an early American house in a yellow color . . . or what color would you suggest?" asks one woman.

The family has bought a beautiful old house that needs many repairs. But they want to make it look pretty outside, before they attempt to work indoors. They have put in the new windows and repaired the roof.

Yellow is a very tricky color, especially when it is used in large areas. It can be beautiful and lively, but it can be sickly, nondescript. It changes in various lights. Yellow has lots of charm, but it isn't the best color for a big old house. A very, very pale yellow might be pretty, but when it fades it may become drab.

Old houses should be painted in soft colors or white. Paint store catalogs show some of the new exterior paints that are especially attractive for old houses.

The champagne colors — ivories with a bit more zizz — are lovely on aged dwellings. But there are pretty blues, greens and grays that can put an old house back in the limelight.

It generally costs a great deal to paint a big house, so it is wise to play with many paint samples until you are sure.

AN ANXIOUS handyman is in the mood to build a swimming pool dressing room for the family, and is trying to find an interesting design that will not be too expensive.

One idea would be to build a sauna dressing room. The sauna could be used at other times and in summer the room could be a very adequate dressing room.

People use saunas in the cold weather and if one can take it, there is nothing like a sauna bath and a cold water plunge, they say. Lumber yards can provide plans for saunas.

A sweet little poolside dressing room could be made from one of the little Japanese tea houses that are imported for garden use.

One woman wants to spend spring building "cat traps." Last spring, the family made beautiful bird houses, only to find that "cats did away with birds." They mounted the houses about three feet above the ground along their driveway, hoping the birds would nest in them.

Cats are much maligned animals and as natural predators should be no more condemned for eating a bird placed within its reach than a dog should be for grabbing a rib roast beef the family left within its grasp.

BIRD HOUSES set only three feet above ground can provide a juicy meal for anything that can reach their contents. A garter snake can coil up a six-foot pole to reach a feeder.

One family discovered that when they peeked into a bird house to see whether the bluebird had laid its eggs, they found a snake sunning itself. Fortunately, the bluebird was unscathed and returned with a brood after the house was thoroughly de-snaked.

Many people unwittingly hurt their feathered friends by too much kindness. Some people "protect" wild ducks from hunters by sprinkling corn and other feed out their backyards, but in taking the ducks away from their natural foraging grounds, they make them prey to other enemies. In addition, ducks can starve to death when their kind friends stop feeding them, and they are off their own beaten path.

"Live and let live" should be the rule for birds and other animals. Many need a helping hand with food, but they've been fighting their own battles for millions of years in a survival of fittest society, and it is unfair for humans to trap anything that isn't absolutely necessary for food.

Instead of building cat traps, one could put cone - shape metal collars at the bottom of bird house poles to discourage cats, snakes and other animals.

Plan Offered For Repair Of Garage Posts

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Recently, I saw a clever and practical repair made to the supporting posts between the doors of the double garage.

Termites had infested the post up to a height of 100 inches above the garage floor. It had looked as though the owner was in for an expensive repair bill, but a hardheaded handyman came up with the following answer to the problem.

His first step was to cut the post through at a level above the termite damage after he had driven two 2-by-4s between the floor and the header above the doors. This took the weight off the post and prevented any sag or dropping of the front wall of the garage.

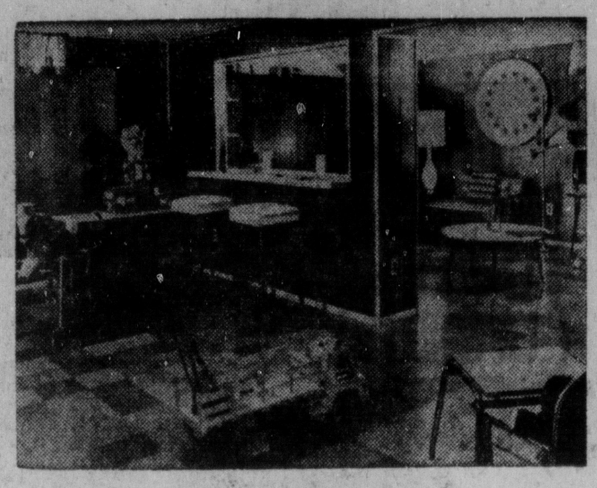

The next step was to build a box or form beneath the sawed-off post, making it just large enough to offer a full bearing for the post. Next, this was filled with concrete which came up just enough to have the bottom of the post slightly embedded. After four or five days, the box was removed, leaving a sturdy and permanent support.

In most cases, the center support of a double - garage door will be boxed in around the post, in which case the trim must be removed before the work is started and then replaced with any additional alteration the size of the concrete support may make necessary.

The actual cost of material for this job was less than $10 and the actual time required was five hours — an interesting repair at an interesting price.

In situations where the decayed post is set on a footing beneath the garage floor, the rotted wood should be dug out and the hole filled with concrete before the job itself is done.

The sergeant major serves as the representative in the Pentagon for all American enlisted men around the world.

TRANSFORMED FROM A CLUTTERED BASEMENT, this spacious and attractive recreation room serves as an attractive play-room for youngsters, and a "clubroom" for teenagers. It's also ideal for informal adult entertainment. Careful choice of building materials — like hardboard wall paneling in a handsome woodgrain finish — gives the room a warm, inviting look.

Steel Continues Spending For Capital Improvements

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel Magazine's annual financial anaylsis of the steel industry shows the industry is spending more money than it generates and has been doing so for "seven of the past nine years."

Walter J. Campbell, editor-in-chief of the metalworking weekly, said Monday that the industry spent 8.6 per cent more money on new plant and equipment in 1968 than it did in 1967.

"Without massive capital spending, it is doubtful the domestic industry could survive the onslaughts from overseas competition . . .," said Campbell.

He added that overseas producers have great advantages in sharply lower labor costs and the support of two government, "theirs and ours."

The domestic industry relied heavily on borrowing last year, Campbell pointed out, adding:

"To keep its equipment modern the industry spent 57 per cent more dollars in 1968 than were amassed that year via retained cash flow (depreciation and earnings left after paying modest dividends to stockholders)."

The editor said there might be little cause for concern if capital expenditures exceeded cash flows for a single year, "but the steel industry has spent more for plant and equipment than it generated in seven of the past nine years."

Campbell said the industry's heavy reliance on borrowing to finance new plant and equipment pushed long term debt 11.8 per cent ahead of the level at the end of 1967.

Debt in 1968 accounted for 26.6 per cent of capital invested in the steel industry, compared with 25.2 percent in 1967 and 24.1 per cent in 1966, the magazine said.

Campbell said:

"We hold the problems faced by the industry in its fight for survival are not only problems for the steel producers but for the entire nation. We believe its plight deserves and demands deeper understanding and better treatment from the public and independent sectors than it has yet received."

The magazine estimated 2,850, net tons of raw steel were poured in the week ended April 5.

There's A Time To Get 'Down In The Gutter'

Most problems with gutters and downspouts can be corrected with little more than a cleaning.

Now and then repairs may be in order, but if tended to promptly, before damage has gone too far, this need not be a tremendous chore.

Leaking roof gutters fail to carry water to the downspout and then away from the house. An overflow will saturate the earth around the foundation and if there are weak spots in foundation waterproofing, water may seep into the basement.

MORE immediate are stains on the siding and eventually the peeling of paint. Water also may work its way through cracks in the wall or back under the roof, resulting in water staining of interior walls and ceilings.

Gutters need cleaning several times a year. You will need a long extension ladder, one that will reach well above the edge of the roof so that you can look down into the gutter as you work.

Use a stiff brush to clean out the gutter. A small garden trowel can be used to scoop up the debris. Hang a bucket from your ladder for the dirt you gather.

Make certain that openings into downspouts are protected with a screen or plastic cage made especially for that purpose. With such an item in place you will find that this is where you will find the greatest buildup of leaves, twigs and dirt.

PROTECTIVE screens are available that can be put over the gutter itself, the theory being that leaves will gather on the surface and then blow away. Such mesh coverings work if leaves are your only problem. For smaller dirt they can be a mixed blessing since the dirt filters through and then the only way to clean the gutter is to pry off the covering.

Water may not flow through the gutters properly because they are sagging. Simply renail the hangers. There should be a slight pitch toward the downspout.

Protect the inside surface of metal gutters with liquid roof coating. This will seal minor cracks. Openings large enough to cause leaks can be repaired.

Clean out the rust, coat with roof coating and place a piece of heavy - duty aluminum foil over this, then apply more roof coating. Fiberglass patches used with a special resin also are available. Used as directed, they will last indefinitely.

OUTSIDE surfaces of gutters and downspouts should be sanded of peeling paint and rust and then repainted with a rust-resistant paint.

Sometimes water will gush out because the downspout has pulled away from the gutter. Get the downspout back in place and then use additional metal straps to hold it firmly against the house.

Downspouts may get filled with debris, too. Sometimes tapping with a heavy stick will loosen the matter. If this fails, run a hose down the downspout and then turn on the water to flush it out. If this fails use a plumber's snake to break through.

THIS A-FRAME front is almost all glass. The lower portion is sliding doors and the upper, narrow shafts which go to the roof. Appendages have been added to the "A" for design interest and more living space. One contains two bedrooms and the other, the side porch. Centered on the rear living room wall is a large stone fireplace. Above is the cantilevered balcony of the second floor. This adds drama to the interior, particularly with the living room ceiling soaring up to the full roof height. In the bedroom extension wing, closets project around the central planter and windows are over the tops of closets. Storage is abundant in HA594M, with its 1,100 square feet on the first floor and 366 on the second. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501.

Steel Dowels Advised For Post Problem

A P Newsfeatures

Q: There is a concrete patio at the back of our house. I plan on enclosing it. I have been told to use 4-by-4s for the support posts at the lower end of the roof. But how do I attach the posts to the concrete?

A: The trick is to use a steel dowel about six inches long for each post, half of which will be set in the concrete and the other half inside the bottom of the post. If you can't get dowels of the proper size, you may have to cut a half-inch steel rod into pieces of the necessary lengths. The most difficult part of the project is making a hole in the concrete into which half of the dowel is inserted. You'll have to use a star drill of the right size or a power drill with a carbide- tipped bit.

Sometimes the hole will be of exactly the right size and you'll have no problem. But sometimes the sides of the hole will chip away and the dowel will fit too loosely, in which case you'll have to fill the hole with a concrete mix and then, after it has set a little, push the dowel into it, being sure that it is absolutely verticle. After a day or two, it will have hardened sufficiently to continue with the job.

Drill a hole three inches long into the center of the bottom of the post. Make the hole slightly smaller in diameter than that of the steel dowel. Next, place the post over the dowel and hammer into place. Use a wooden mallet or, if you don't have one, place a heavy piece of wood on top of the post and hammer down on that.

The top plates — usually 2-by-8s will hold the posts steady when they are put into place. But, until this is done, it is wise to hold the posts in proper alignment with 1-by-2s, 1-by-3s or 2-by-3s. Be sure to use screws, not nails, so that the wood strips can be removed easily if they later interfere with the placement of screens or storm windows.

Private Rites Due For Man In Turnpike Shooting Spree

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Donald Lambright, described by his mother as a victim of his own protest against racism, will be buried this week in Cleveland at private services.

"No one but us to see," Lambright's mother, Mrs. Winifred Lee of Cleveland, said Sunday.

Lambright, 31, killed three persons, including his wife, and wounded or injured 17 others before killing himself Saturday in a violent shooting spree along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Lambright was the son of Negro comedian Lincoln Perry, who performed as Stepin Fetchit. His mother has since remarried, but is now separated.

"Donald was, himself, a victim of the racism that is abroad in this land," his mother said in a prepared statement Sunday. "He was a brilliant young man caught in the undertow of a confused society, a brilliant scholar, a talented musician.

"He found it impossible to reconcile himself to the fact he could not reach employment commensurate to his abilities in society," his mother said.

"This holocaust could then be considered as a protest against the establishmen.. We hope that it will have some effect on the status quo and other black young men will not be thwarted in their efforts toward achievement as Donald was."

Mrs. Lee said that as a student at Wabash College in Indiana, her son had been unable to do his laundry or get his haircut because of his race. She said his nose was broken by a white man when he was in the Air Force.

She said that after the Air Force, he went to Lincoln University at Lincoln, Pa., and while there became "very concorned about the lack of Negro rights in this country."

Lambright had since dropped out of Lincoln and gone to work at a state employment office in Cleveland. He quit that job recently. His mother said he had returned to Lincoln last Saturday morning and was on his way back to Cleveland when the shooting broke out.

Dr. Middleton H. Lambright Jr., who adopted Donald at the age of 8, said "He was just sick... As far as I am concerned, he needed psychiatric help."

A maternal uncle, Harold Johnson of New York, said after the shootings that Donald Lambright was "imagining things and suffering from delusions. He was paranoic."

Mrs. Lee denied Sunday that her son belonged to any Black Nationalist organization, although Johnson said Lambright was a member of the Republic of New Africa, a nationalist group.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

More On Plastic Baskets

DEAR FOLKS: Not long ago I asked you for suggestions on uses for little plastic berry baskets.

Heloise

My goodness, was I ever swamped with the replies. With all the marveous ideas, it surely was difficult to decide on which ones to print.

Here are a few that I thought were especially clever ideas:

A hanging flower basket or ornamental bird cage can be made by wiring two, four or six baskets together (open sides facing). These may be wired in umpteen thousand shapes. Place either flowers or a little lake bird on a perch inside the "basket" or "cage." Twine flowers or vines on the outside.

A little butterfly added to the side of the flower basket would give it that added something.

If using the white baskets, how about a red bird inside and twining green ivy around?

Also for those of you that are bothered with birds eating the seeds you just planted . . . cover the seeds with the baskets. Also keeps the snails away.

To entertain children in a hospital . . . you could make a toy zoo.

Place toy animals on a long piece of cardboard, then turn baskets upside down over each animal and glue in place.

Isn't that a cutie? What child wouldn't love that?

And with the Easter Sunday just around the corner you can make the cutest little Easter baskets for the wee ones.

Weave colored ribbon around the basket and tie with a bow. The handle can be made from pipe cleaners twisted at each corner and crisscrossed. With a bit of grass in the bottom, your little one is ready for Peter Cottontail or the Easter egg hunt.

And mothers, did you know that you can make tote purses or doll furniture for your little girls out of these baskets?

Great in the bottom of lunch sacks, for centerpieces, shadow boxes, and containers for fruit or cookie gifts.

Wosie, I could just go on and on . . . about all the ideas that you darling people have suggested.

A basket of thanks.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I reached in my closet for an item of clothing and couldn't find it anywhere. Where do you think it was?

My teenage daughter had it on. My, did I feel old!

DEAR HELOISE: I found a marvelous way to fry "greaseless" eggs with water!

With your grease hot, put your egg in the pan and immediately turn the fire on low. Add about three tablespoons of water and cover the pan. This eliminates the chance of a broken yellow since there is no necessity of turning the egg or basting it with grease.

Cook to the desired doneness and you end up with a professional-looking egg.

Thieves Get $30 In Pants Pocket

A Salineville man had $30 stolen from his pants pockets Saturday as he tried on a new pair in a city store.

James Randolph of 3 Lincoln St. told police the incident occurred about 3:45 p.m. as he was trying on clothes at the Arrow Pants Shop in the Diamond.

Randolph reported he left his old pair of pants in a "change room" and, wearing the new pair, walked to a mirror in the main part of the store to check the fit. Meantime, he said, two young boys entered the room apparently to try on something. After leaving the store, Randolph retrieved his old pants and found a $20 bill and a $10 bill were missing.

Ohio Senate Will Air Fluoridation Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio Legislature, preparing today to get back into the business of lawmaking following an extended Easter weekend, face hearings on a handful of controversial bills — including one requiring statewide fluoridation of water.

The lawmakers will begin their 14th week of work Tuesday and the fluoridation proposal comes up for its first hearing before the Senate Committee on Education, Health and Welfare at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The bill requires all but the smallest water supplies in the state to contain between .8 and 1.3 parts of fluorine per million parts of water.

Under the bill, water systems serving 20,000 or more persons would have to be fluoridated by Jan. 1, 1971 and those serving 5,000 or more by Jan. 1, 1972.

At present, 43 per cent of Ohio's population drink fluoridated water, including residents of Cleveland, Akron and Toledo.

In addition to the fluoridation, the committee will hear two other proposals.

The first would upgrade the Lima branch of Ohio State University into a four-year autonomous college by 1971. The second is an administration bill to provide tuition grants to students from needy families. The grants would range from $100 to $900 for between 15,000 and 20,000 students.

Other committee hearings this week:

—The Senate Judiciary Committee after Tuesday's session will hear a bill requiring conglomerates wanting to take over an Ohio firm to first make a full public disclosure of their plans for that firm.

After Wednesday's session it will hear a bill to permit nonprofit corporations to distribute funds to other nonprofit corporations without jeopardizing their tax exempt status.

— The Senate Committee on Agriculture and State Agencies at 8 p.m. Tuesday will hear a bill prohibiting swimming fees in state parks. The bill has been amended to allow those under 16 to swim free, but provides a 50-cent fee for adults.

—The Senate Finance Committee at 8 p.m. Tuesday will hold its first hearing on an administration bill to create a State Planning Office within the governor's office.

—The House State Government Committee at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday will hear seven bills to increase state pension funds.

—The Senate Committee on Urban and Highway Affairs at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday will hear a bill to increase the cost of auto licenses from $10 to $20. The increased fees would go for road improvements in local communities.

—The House Judiciary Committee at 10 a.m. Wednesday will hear a bill to revise Ohio's Juvenile Court laws to conform with recent rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court.

—The Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee at 10 a.m.Thursday will hear a House-passed bill to prohibit racial discrimination in cemeteries.

All Of Minor Nature

6 Area Accidents Probed By Patrol Over Weekend

Six area accidents were investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon during the weekend.

All were minor, with only two persons complaining of injuries, but apparently not treated.

A Sebring motorist was cited for driving while intoxicated following a one-car accident on Route 164 about a mile south of Route 518 Sunday at 8:15 p.m.

Bessie A. Johnson, 57, of Sebring, was driving a 1960 sedan when it went off the left side of the road and struck a cement culvert, then continued on for 45 feet and came to rest in a field.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Psychologists believe that being an only child or the eldest child leads to greater achievement. The theory is bolstered by the fact that 21 of the 23 astronauts who have taken part in space flights are either only children or eldest sons. Parents tend to lavish more love on and expect more from an only child or the first born.

2 Ex-U.S. Commanders Claim

War Stepup Held Needed In Averting Saigon Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former U.S. commanders in the Vietnam war say American escalation of the fighting was essential in preventing the fall of South Vietnam, but White House restraints ruled out a traditional military victory.

In their 347-page "Report on the War in Vietnam," published today by the Pentagon, Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Adm. U. S. G. Sharp said their strategy in building up the American effort from 1964 until last year was generally successful and ended any chance of an enemy victory.

Westmoreland, who ran the U.S. war effort in Vietnam until he became Army chief of staff last June, said without the buildup of American troops in 1965 he doubts the South Vietnamese could have held out for more than six months.

But, he wrote, restrictions by the White House on military operations against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries in neighboring Laos, Cambodia and North Vietnam "made it impossible to destroy the enemy's forces in a traditional or classic sense."

Sharp, who as U.S. commander in the Pacific planned the air war against North Vietnam until his retirement last August, for his part said the "profound effect" of American bombing of the North probably induced Hanoi to seek relief by agreeing to the negotiations now underway in Paris.

"The cumulative effects of air operations and the demands of the war in South Vietnam resulted in unprecedented stresses and strains on the North Vietnamese economy, production and distribution systems, the life of the people and the political control apparatus," Sharp wrote.

"Conditions may have been sufficiently serious to have induced North Vietnam to use the tactics of 'negotiation' to gain a period of relief in order to rectify its more pressing problems, and to reinvigorate support of the war in South Vietnam."

Although calling the bombing "the most precise in history," Sharp implied the raids could have been even more effective were it not for restrictions imposed by Washington for non-military reasons.

"From a military standpoint, both air and naval programs were inhibited by restrictions growing out of the limited nature of our conduct of the war," he said.

Sharp's report covers a period from 1964, when the air war against the North was launched, through June 30, 1968, after it had been curtailed.

The raids started as punitive measures, but were increased to cut North Vietnamese support of the enemy troops in the South and to prove U.S. staying power, the report said.

The admiral wrote that without the bombing, the U.S. military price of the war would have been much higher.

"The uninhibited flow of men, weapons and supplies through North Vietnam to confront our forces in South Vietnam could have had only one result for the United States and its allies—considerably heavier casualties at a smaller cost to the enemy," Sharp said.

Fee On Beehives

Among them is one of 25 cents a beehive up to 50 hives, and 10 cents a hive for over 50.

Embalmers are examined by a state board for $25 but their licenses to practice are renewed annually for $10.

Driver Placed On Probation In Fatal Accident

LISBON — A Lisbon driver whose car collided with a motor scooter on Route 30 near West Point last July 2, killing a passenger on the scooter, has been placed on probation for two years.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court ordered Michael R. Ward, 21, of 422 W. Washington St. to surrender his operator's license for six months.

The judge said the court will reconsider the suspension of Ward's right to drive upon proof he has had an eye examination and if the driver's examination department of the Ohio Highway Patrol will issue him a license knowing the results of the examination.

Indicted by the September Grand Jury, Ward pleaded guilty Sept. 30 to the patrol's charge of traffic manslaughter. Patrolmen alleged he made a left turn in front of the southbound scooter carrying Harry Gunhold, 34, and his wife, Freda, 32, of Balmain, New South Wales. Mrs. Gunhold was killed.

Both Drivers Unhurt In Two-Car Mishap

Both drivers escaped injury Sunday evening in a two - car collision on Route 30 in Greene Township.

Richard W. Campbell, 21, of Wellsburg RD 2 was headed east when he stopped to make a left turn. His vehicle was struck from the rear by a car operated by Benjamin A. Breard, 22, of 3310 Fairmont St., Dallas, Tex.

Campbell's auto received $75 damages and Breard's $25. The accident was investigated by Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa.

Games In Washington, Cincinnati Open Baseball Season

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE

Review Sports Editor

Four teams have a shot at the title, with only the Astros and Padres out of it.

Going out on a limb, the choice here is the Dodgers. The club has the best pitching in the West, with Don Drysdale, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Bill Singer starting and Jim Brewer in the bullpen. Rookies Ted Sizemore and Bill Sudakis bolster the infield, with veterans Wes Parker and Jim Lefebvre also starters. Ron Fairly is the only good-hitting outfielder, though Strughers' Andy Kosco may add punch. Fleet Willie Davis holds down center. Catcher Tom Haller is one of the best around. Manager Walter Alston is starting his 16th season with the Dodgers, the longest current tenure in the majors.

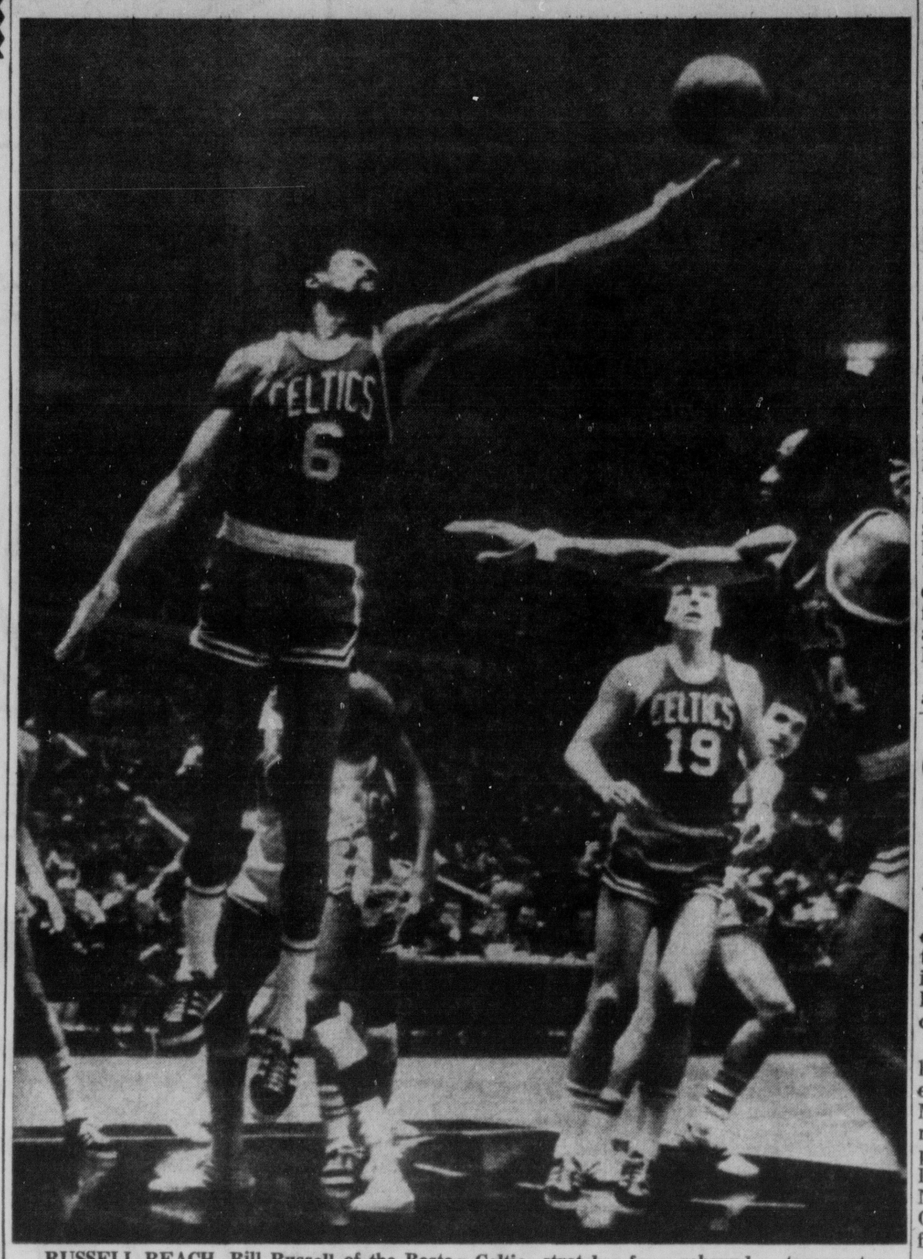

THE BRAVES, with good hitting but mediocre pitching, should finish second. Orlando Cepeda completes a good infield with Felix Millan, Sonny Jackson and Clete Boyer. The outfield of Hank Aaron, Rico Carty and Felipe Alou is devastating. Catching headed by Bob Tillman, is weak. The pitching of Pat Jarvis, Phil Neikro, Ron Reed and Ken Johnson is not overpowering, but it is adequate. Jim Brtton heads the bullpen corps for Lum Harris.

The Giants, which have finished second four years in a row, may sink to third this year. Juan Marichal is top-flight, but the other pitchers, Jim Perry, Mike McCormick, Ray Sadecki and Bob Bolin, are showing signs of age. Frank Linzy is the top reliever. The outfield of Wille Mays, Jim Ray Hart and Bobby Bonds is excellent, and Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt hold down the right side of the infield. The left side, with Hal Lanier and rookie Bob Etheridge, is weaker. Catching is unsettled, with Dick Dietz, Jack Hiatt and Bob Barton battling for the job. Clyde King may have problems in his rookie season as manager.

THE REDS will finish no lower than fourth, and may go higher if the pitching jells. Even with weak-hitting Woody Woodward at short, Cincinnati has the best hitting team around with Lee May, Tommy Helms, Tony Perez, Alex Johnson, Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and John Bench. Pitchers Jim Maloney, Tony Cloninger, George Culver and Gary Nolan have all had big years, but injuries have hampered them from time to time. The bullpen, headed by Clay Carroll, is shaky. Hustling Dave Bristol will need managerial magic to help the mound corps.

The Astros seem a sure bet for fifth. The outfield of Jim Wynn, Curt Blefary and Jesus Alou is strong, but the trading of Rusty Staub leaves a hole at fist. Joe Morgan, Dennis Menke and Doug Rader complete an ordinary infield. Retread Johnny Edwards is the catcher. The pitching staff, never one of Harry Walker's strongpoints, is weak. Larry Dierker and Don Wilson are fast but wild, while Denny LeMaster and Bill Monbouquette are getting along. The bullpen is a weak point.

The reason the Astros won't finish last is the expansion San Diego Padras. Preston Gomes, in his first try as a major-league manager, is in for a depressing season. The Pardres drafted for youth, and Al Ferrera, Tony Gonzalez, Ollie Bown, Roberto Pena and Ed Speizio are the only familiar names among the regulars. Al McBean, Dick Selma, Billy McCool and Tom Kelley are features of the pitching staff.

Celtics Surprise Knicks

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers rested today with visions of a crown on their heads while the Atlanta Hawks prepared for another fitting tonight.

But hold everything because the Boston Celtics, present kings of the National Basketball Association, appear to have little intention of abdicating.

The aging Celtics, who won the NBA title last year and then finished a disappointing fourth in the Eastern Division this season, look ready for another coronation now that the playoffs are underway. After winning the division semifinal series in five games from Philadelphia, Boston opened the division final with an impressive 108-100 victory over the red-hot New York Knicks in a nationally-televised game Sunday in New York.

The winner of that best-of-7 series, which resumes Wednesday night in Boston, meets the West winner.

The Lakers took a big step in that direction by winning their fourth straight from San Francisco, 118-78, Saturday night to win their semifinal set and now await the victor in the Atlanta-San Diego series.

Atlanta, after a 112-101 triumph Sunday in Atlanta for a 3-2 lead, can wrap up its series tonight in San Diego, where the Hawks have not won this season.

The Celtics moved to a 70-55 lead in the third period against the Knicks, who came off a surprising four-game sweep over Baltimore in their semifinal series. Although New York made several desperate rushes in the final period, cutting the margin to 94-90 and then 98-94, Boston with its playoff saavy always had the answer.

Veterans John Havlicek and Bailey Howell, who each had seven points in the final 12 minutes to hold off New York, finished with 25 and 21, respectively. Walt Frazier had 34 for New York.

Atlanta, led by Joe Caldwell and Lou Hudson, took a 53-50 halftime lead, increased it to 84-77 after three periods and then poured it on for a 95-78 spread. Caldwell totaled 26 points and Hudson 20 for the Hawks. Elvin Hayes had 27 for the Rockets.

Leafs Fire Imlach

Bruins, Blues, Canadiens Clinch Hockey Playoffs

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

It will be Montreal against Boston and St. Louis against somebody in the National Hockey League's East and West Division Stanley Cup final playoffs.

The Canadiens, Bruins and Blues all completed four-game sweeps of first round Cup opponents Sunday while the Los Angeles Kings knocked off Oakland to knot the other series at two games each.

Montreal held off a furious New York rally and beat the Rangers 4-3. Boston nipped Toronto 3-2 to finish off the Maple Leafs and moments afterwards, Toronto President Stafford Smythe finished off Manager-Coach Punch Imlach, by firing him. St. Louis downed Philadelphia 4-1 and Los Angeles took Oakland 4-2.

New York broke through against Rogatien Vachon, who took over when Montreal's netminder, Gump Worsley, came up with a sore knee, with quick goals by Dave Balon and Rod Gilbert and added another by Don Marshall in the third period, but it was not enough.

It marked Montreal's third playoff sweep in the last four series. The Canadiens won 12 of 13 playoff games to capture the Cup last year.

Smythe lowered the boom on Imlach two minutes after the Bruins eliminated Toronto. It was Derek Sanderson of the Bruins, who lowered the boom on the Maple Leafs.

Sanderson scored two goals, one while killing a Boston penalty, to lead the Bruins' attack. Phil Esposito's sixth playoff goal was Boston's other score. Ron Ellis and Dave Keon scored for the Leafs.

Divisional Play Started

by ROBERT MOORE

Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball, troubled by a heated players pension dispute much of the winter, was poised today to launch a new season with four new clubs, five rookie managers, a new commissioner and opening games at Washington, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

The Washington Senators, who lured Ted Williams out of baseball retirement to take over as manager, faced the New York Yankees in the nation's capitol. President Nixon was expected to toss out the first ball in one of two afternoon games.

Cincinnati was host to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the other daylight opener.

The Atlanta Braves clash tonight with the San Francisco Giants, whose new Manager Clyde King has installed Willie Mays in the leadoff spot for the first time in the center fielder's illustrious career.

All other teams in both leagues rip the lid off their season Tuesday. Minnesota is at Kansas City, Cleveland at Detroit and Boston at Baltimore in day games and Seattle at California and Chicago at Oakland at night in the American League.

Tuesday's National League action finds Montreal at New York, Philadelphia at Chicago in daylight affairs and Pittsburgh at St. Louis, Houston at San Diego and the Giants at Atlanta again at night.

Besides Williams and King, the rookie big league managers are Billy Martin at Minnesota, Joe Schultz at Seattle and Preston Gomez at San Diego.

Three other skippers, though not new on the managerial scene, will be making their debuts with new clubs, including Gene Mauch at Montreal, Hank Bauer at Oakland and Joe Gordon at Kansas City.

The new commissioner is Bowie Kuhn, successor to Gen. William D. Eckert.

There's something else new this season. Both leagues have adapted East and West divisional setups. Division winners will collide in postseason playoffs to determine the World Series opponents.

Only a month ago, the clubs and players finally got together in their winter-long dispute over the player pension program. The dispute delayed the opening of full-scale spring training workouts.

President Nixon, who already has made some changes in Washington hoped to add another today by sparking the Senators to their first presidential triumph in seven years. His only previous appearance was as vice president and substitute for the late President Eisenhower in 1959. The Senators won that one.

After Mr. Nixon's performance, Manager Williams, whose five-year contract involved $1.2 million, planned to send Camilo Pascual, 13-12 last year and loser in the 1968 opener, against Yankee ace Mel Stottlemyre, 21-12.

Cincinnati, oldest team in professional baseball, called on young Gary Nolan, 9-4, to pitch against Dodger veteran Don Drysdale, 14-12.

San Francisco's ace, Juan Marichal, 26-9, will go against Pat Jarvis 16-12, at Atlanta tonight. The Braves will be seeking their first home opener since they moved from Milwaukee at Atlanta in 1966.

Littler Wins Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Some people call Gene Littler golf's mechanical man. Quiet, soft - spoken, seldom spectacular, all he does is win money and tournaments in a generally unobtrusive manner.

When he won a four-man sudden death playoff on the fifth extra hole of the $160,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament Sunday he padded his bulging 1969 bankroll by $32,000. He's the year's top money winner at $86,000 and the first man in 14 tournaments this year to win twice. He took the Phoenix Open in February.

Junior Editors Quiz on EURASIA

QUESTION: Why are Europe and Asia considered as two separate continents?

ANSWER: Geologists often think of continents as huge land masses more or less surrounded by water. From this point of view, Europe and Asia are often considered as one super-continent, called Eurasia. Although there is no general water boundary between Europe and Asia, there is a striking land one, the Ural Mountains, which rise sharply from lower land on either side and slice Eurasia in two (check our map). The early map makers noted this division and used the Urals to mark the boundary between Europe and Asia. We have continued their usage. Another development tending to split Eurasia was that our Western civilization grew from early civilizations in Asia Minor (two towers to left) whose ideas moved north and influenced Europe and America. But the civilizations developing in India and China (towers to right) were very different. At first, these two worlds of West and East had little to do with each other. Nowadays, they are understanding each other better. The Asian children waving at us are symbolizing this increased understanding.

14 GIs Slain As Reds Slash Into 2 Groups

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese infantrymen slashed into two groups of U.S. troops Sunday night, killing 14 Americans and wounding 28 in close-quarter fighting. Only three enemy were known dead.

Fighting generally appeared to be at the lowest level since the enemy's spring offensive began six weeks ago.

Eleven Americans were killed and 13 were wounded in one fight, about 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Mortars slammed into a night bivouac of American paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade, defending the southen approaches to the provincial capital of Bao Loc.

As the mortars pinned down the defenders, North Vietnamese infantrymen drove to the barbed wire perimeter of the camp, hurling hand grenades and firing machine guns and riffles.

The paratroopers ought back and called in helicopter gunships and troop reinforcements, who succeeded in driving off the attackers after a 2½-hour battle. North Vietnamese casualties were not known, spokesmen said.

The other engagement also lasting 2½ hours, was in the Viet Cong's War Zone C stronghold in northern Tay Ninh province along the Cambodian border, where thousands of American air cavalrymen are pursuing troops of the North Vietnamese 1st and 7th Divisions.

Troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division sweeping 65 miles northwest of Saigon late Sunday came under withering small arms and machine-gun fire that killed three Americans and wounded 15. The enemy withdrew under heavy bombardment by warplanes and artillery, leaving only three bodies.

Headquarters also announced three more American helicopters were shot down and destroyed during the weekend, raising the number of choppers lost in the war to 2,499. Only one crewman was wounded.

It was the only action reported in the 3rd Corps Area that includes Saigon. Military spokesmen reported a notable drop in enemy activity there and said the threat to Saigon posed by four North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions had eased.

They said allied forces in the area killed more than 8,000 enemy soldiers in the past six weeks, took more than 1,000 prisoners and captured more than 3,000 weapons and 100 tons of rice.

"We do not see any large-scale activity throughout the 3rd Corps at this time," said a spokesman. "The enemy has been hurt by his rice supply. Most of the people are hungry. They are short of medical supplies. Malaria is a big problem. It causes them heavy casualties."

But analysts predicted the offensive would continue and action would pick up again with some battalion-sized assaults and continuation of rocket and mortar attacks. They said the most critical area is still the string of American bases stretching 20 to 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

With fighting around the capital at a low level, half the B52 raids along the Saigon approaches have been shifted to the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

Plans South Viet Visit

Rogers Hopes For Some Troop Pullout This Year

Saigon Trip Will Follow May Parley

Declares Nixon Has 'Fair, Reasonable' Plan To End War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers declared today that "we certainly hope there will be some chance of a mutual withdrawal of troops" from Vietnam this year.

Rogers told a news conference that he plans to pay a visit of three or four days to South Vietnam following a foreign ministers meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization at Bangkok, Thailand, in May.

The Nixon administration, Rogers said in response to a direct question, does "have a plan which we think is fair and reasonable for ending this conflict" in Vietnam.

"We're going to proceed in every possible way to apply it," he declared. "We have every hope it will bring peace."

He flatly refused—as he and other administration officials have done in the past—to give any details of the plan or to say whether there has in fact been any progress in secret contacts with Communist negotiators in Paris or elsewhere.

On the key question of troop withdrawal, Rogers told the newsmen and women who crowded his first news conference as secretary of state:

"I certainly hope there will be some chance of a mutual withdrawal of troops this year. But if it's to be mutual you have to have mutuality.

"As to unilateral withdrawal of troops (a U.S. withdrawal without parallel Communist action), I won't go beyond what the President has said. We are considering all possibilities. I won't predict what might be done."

Aside from a barrage of Vietnam questions, Rogers faced queries on the Middle East, troubles with Peru, NATO and relations with the Soviet Union.

But the war, particularly diplomatic efforts to end the fighting, was high in many reporters' minds.

Despite Nixon's call for silence about secret negotiations, inquiries have persisted and one high official—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird—said last week "there has been some sign of progress in some of the private talks."

Nixon, pledged to seek a peaceful settlement of the war, has taken the position that secret negotiations would be jeopardized if officials give public information about them.

Other diplomatic issues facing Rogers arose from these developments:

—The Wednesday deadline for cutting off U.S. aid to Peru if Lima's military regime fails to move toward what Washington deems to be just compensation for seized American oil properties. Nixon's special envoy in the dispute, John N. Irwin II, stopped off to see the President in Florida over the weekend while hurrying back to Lima.

Tavern Leveled By Blaze

Probe Continues In Fire At 'Downs'

CHARRED BAR SCENE. Stools remained lined up in the burned interior of the Waterford Downs nightclub along Route 7 following a blaze which destroyed the longtime Yellow Creek area landmark over the weekend. The roof of the structure collapsed as firemen from three communities battled the flames.

Investigation continued today into the cause of a stubborn blaze which leveled the unoccupied Waterford Downs tavern along Route 7 south of Wellsville Saturday night with a loss of about $20,000.

The identity of the current owner was being sought in an effort to learn the actual loss resulting from the fire which broke out shortly after 9 p. m. Saturday.

Twenty-four men and three pumper trucks from Wellsville, Irondale and Stratton volunteer departments fought the flames from 9:20 p.m. Saturday to Sunday morning at 2:30.

The rambling three - section building remained only smoldering ruins today.

Wellsville Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the smaller one - story section which contained the kitchen was completely engulfed by flames when the Wellsville department arrived.

The fire was spreading into the ceiling of the adjacent 1½-story tavern area, he said. "It was impossible to stop," he said, explaining the flames raced through hidden subfloors, paneled walls and closed - off stairwells. Chief Lewis said the building had been re-modeled many times, and there were various false ceilings and other areas behind walls.

The last owner has been identified as Charles Harris.

A two-story building at the upriver end was also destroyed. A smaller building, also two-stories high and about 100 feet away, was undamaged.

The tavern had been involved in a 1968 Jefferson County prostitution investigation by the Grand Jury.

At 5:30 a. m. yesterday, seven men and one pumper truck from Wellsville returned to the scene to reduce the danger of the still smoldering ruins from damaging nearby Yellow Creek Control Tower of the railroad, Lewis said. Later, at 4:30 p.m. two men and a pumper checked the site to insure no additional fire had flared and to wet down the rubble.

Kenneth Weekley of 910 Commerce St., Wellsville, a volunteer fireman, was treated at 2:25 a.m. Sunday at City Hospital for smoke burns of the eyes suffered when he was assisting at the scene.

Lewis said it may be a "long, drawnout process" in discovering the ownership of the property. "We may have to check with the recorer's office in Jefferson County," he said. It is not known at present whether the building and its contents are covered by insurance.

Breaks Off Talks

Wellsville Council Hits Police Claims

Wellsville Councilmen have issued a statement, terminating further wage talks with the city's police force and declaring that public claims made by the officers' representatives "erroneous" and "irresponsible."

The statement by Council says publicity provided by the police representatives is a violation of an agreement not to issue press releases during negotiations.

Councilmen also say the 10 per cent pay offer made by them is the limit of the city's financial resources, and urged the officers who have been reporting off ill to return to duty.

Atty. William Telzrow of Wellsville, who has been representing the police force in the negotiations, said, "We are reviewing our position in light of the weekend developments," referring to Council's stand.

Meanwhile, Police Chief John Hephner and Patrolman James Boyle continue alternating 12-hour shifts while the other officers — Capt. Pete Trainer and Patrolman Ed James, Max Zahrndt, and Charles Amato—continue to report off ill.

This is the text of Council's statement:

"Wellsville City Council has deliberately refrained from issuing any statement regarding salaries and wages for city

Donor Lawrence, Mass., Widow

Mechanical Heart Man Getting Human Transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital started an operation at 7 a.m. (CST) today to replace the mechanical heart implanted in Haskell Karp, 47, with a human one.

A spokesman for the hospital said the donor was a 40-year-old Lawrence, Mass., widow who had suffered irreversible brain damage after she was flown to Houston this morning.

An artificial heart was implanted in Karp's chest on April 4.

The spokesman said he had no idea how long the operation would take.

"I would guess several hours but this is only a guess. This is the first time we've had this kind of operation," he said.

Karp, who was able to drink water Sunday and was being fed intravenously, was listed in satisfactory condition before the operation.

But a spokesman said earlier that the eight-ounce plastic heart was designed only to keep a patient alive until a human heart donor could be found.

Mrs. Ewan was transferred to Houston at the request of one of her three daughters, Carol Burns of Lawrence, who accompanied her mother to Houston.

Mrs. Burns asked that her mother be transferred in response to Mrs. Karp's plea for a donor.

A potential donor was en route to the hospital from Cleveland Tex., Friday night but died of a blood clot just a few blocks from the medical center.

Complications prevented use of that heart, the spokesman said.

The mechanical heart was implanted in Karp's chest by Dr. Cooley after he determined that a severely damaged heart chamber could not be repaired.

Cooley said earlier he thought the artificial heart could function well for a month, but hoped it would be needed no longer than a week or 10 days.

Weatherman Shows Mid-Season 'Form'

Written all over it was "Clear and a little warmer tonight and sunny and warmer Tuesday."

Tonight's low will be in the 40s and tomorrow's high in the 60s.

Temperatures will average above normal through Saturday.

Hospital Report Lists Paul As 'Satisfactory'

Paul McCraw, 9-year-old city youngster who received a kidney transplant at Children's Hospital at Pittsburgh Thursday, continues "satisfactory" today, hospital authorities said.

Juanita Fosnaught, 15, of Beaver Falls, recipient of the other kidney of a 9-year-old girl who died at the hospital last week, also is "satisfactory."

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St., who have been with him at the hospital since last week. The family reported Paul talked quite a bit with his parents Sunday.

New Soviet Pressure On Romania Due

MOSCOW (AP) — Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu arrived in Moscow today for a visit during which the Kremlin is expected to put new pressure on his country's independent Communist leaders.

Official statements said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko invited Manescu for "a discussion of international problems." The visit comes at a time when the Kremlin is trying to line up support in preparation for the world Communist conference it plans to open in June in Moscow.

Communist informants say the Kremlin is annoyed at what it regards as Romania's defiant support of Red China in the Chinese-Soviet dispute, its strong opposition to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, and the cordial relations it maintains with West Germany and Israel.

One topic Manescu and Gromyko may discuss is the Soviet-Romanian friendship pact that expired last year. Although a clause automatically extends it for another five years, the Soviets want Romania to sign an-

Both Set Ablaze At New Orleans

25 Crewmen Are Missing In Freighter, Barge Crash

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A head-on collision between a Formosan frighter and an oil barge set both ablaze, sent sheets of flame soaring into a heavily traveled bridge and covered a section of the Mississippi river with burning petroleum Sunday night.

The Coast Guard said 25 of the 51 members of crew of the freighter, the 7,301-ton Union Faith, were unaccounted for. Twenty-five were taken to hospitals.

The fire-swept ship sank about six hours after the collision while being towed away for beaching.

The oil barge broke in two and the two fiercely burning sections floated downstream pursued by fire tugs. One section finally sank and the other ran aground. The barge carrying 9,000 barrels of crude oil was being pushed by the tug Warren Doucet.

The Coast Guard said all members of the tug's crew were accounted for.

Firemen hosed down wharves and ships in the area to prevent the spread of the blaze.

"It looked like the river was on fire," said Elysse Landry, a crewman on a dredger working near the scene.

By The Associated Press

Two fires over the Easter weekend took the lives of 21 persons. Eleven died when fire swept an aging wooden tenement in Bridgeport, Conn., and 10 perished in a blaze touched off by a kerosene explosion at Oakwood Bayou, Ark.

Police called the Bridgeport fire "the city's worst fire disaster in memory." Most of the victims were trapped on the top floor of the 12-family frame house destroyed by the blaze. Six of the dead were children.

Five children and five adults who were attending a family gathering died when flames raced through a frame house in the Arkansas delta town of Oakwood Bayou.

McCormack Prods Nixon On Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., prodded the Nixon administration today to speed up its recommendations to Congress.

Emphasizing that he meant no criticism of Nixon, McCormack said in a statement that Congress and the new President "can best act by the executive expediting messages and reports as quickly as possible."

Without mentioning criticism of Congress for having done little during its first three months in session, McCormack said that to date the legislative branch "has made fine progress."

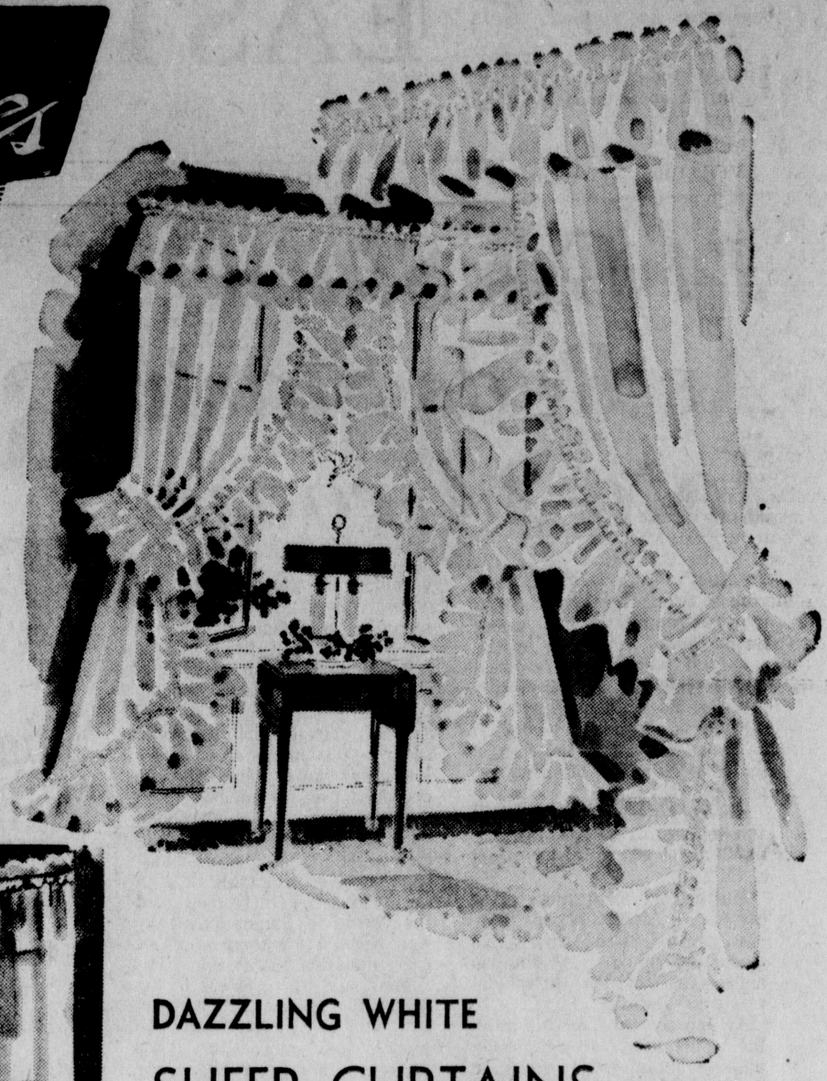

"As a practical matter," he said, "it is exceedingly difficult for the leadership in Congress to formulate a legislative program and timetable . . . until it has before it those recommendations which the President has to submit to the Congress."

McCormack's prod came on the heels of a weekend statement by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills that his House Ways and Means Committee will start writing tax reform legislation before the end of the month even if Nixon

Doesn't Really Have Presidential Bug

Muskie Does Not Intend To Drop Political Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he really doesn't have the presidential bug, but nevertheless has no intention of dropping the nationwide political tours that give him the appearance of having an itch for the White House.

"I find the response enthusiastic enough, warm enough so that I have no disposition to cut off this kind of activity," the Maine Democrat said in an interview about the increasing number of political appearances he has made in recent months.

Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate, has made dozens of speeches at colleges and political affairs in nearly 30 states over the last three months in what observers see as an attempt to build a power base for a 1972 presidential run.

When asked about this, Muskie said:

"They say I have the presidential bug. I really don't. But the more involved my explanations get, the more I get stuck with the bug. And I know what I'm saying now will find its way into countless headlines across the country."

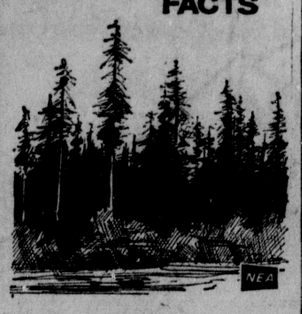

He went on: "It might be better not to comment at all, but then I would be accused of a lack of candor.

"If I had a decision to make today, I'd probably say 'No.' But I don't have to say 'No' today. I don't have to say 'Yes.' So I don't say either.

"I really don't know if I want to be a candidate for president. But I'm not ready to reject it."

Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton founded the Sisters of Charity in the United States.

Victory Fete Planned For Arch Moore

A regional victory celebration honoring Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. of West Virginia will be held at 6:30 p.m. April 26 at the McLure Hotel in Wheeling.

A reception, dinner and dance is being planned by Republican leaders of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler counties.

According to Howard V. Corcoran of Wheeling, state Republican finance chairman, George Lesho of Weirton has been named general chairman of arrangements.

Aiding him will be Northern Panhandle Republican executive committee chairman and Republican county finance chairmen. Duke Horstemeyer, also of Weirton, has been named chairman of publicity.

Corcoran said the county executive committee chairmen and county finance chairman will organize committees within their counties for the distribution and sale of tickets.

He said anyone purchasing a $100 reception ticket who is not a member of the West Virginia Republican Century Club will automatically become a member.

2 Motorists Charged In City Mishaps

Two drivers were cited during investigations of three mishaps over the weekend, police reported today.

One was charged Saturday afternoon when his auto struck a parked car at Lincoln Ave. and E. 8th St.

Ronald M. Waite, 37, of 314 Garfield St. was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control after his 1960 sedan struck a parked 1965 auto owned by Randy Sfakis of 407 Almont St.

Waite told police he was proceeding south on Lincoln Ave., swerved to the right and struck Sfakis' vehicle.

The mishap, at 7:52 a.m., occurred at Dresden Ave. and Trentvale St.

Gary Lee Casto, 22, of 780 Woodlawn Ave. told officers his 1961 sedan went out of control, hit the sign post and slid broadside about 75 feet. There was damage to the right side and frame of his auto.

Casto was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control.

About 1 p.m. Saturday two autos collided at E. 5th St. and Broadway, resulting in minor damage to both cars.

Olivia L. Pierpoint Wilson, 23, of Wellsville told police she was stopped in the line of traffic when her vehicle was struck from behind by another operated by Vermal Edward McComas, 45, of 139 Beechwood St.

McComas told patrolmen his windshield fogged and he didn't see Mrs. Wilson's car in time to stop. There was minor damage to the trunk lid of the Wilson auto and the right front hood of McComas' vehicle.

Doesn't Really Have Presidential Bug

Muskie Does Not Intend To Drop Political Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he really doesn't have the presidential bug, but nevertheless has no intention of dropping the nationwide political tours that give him the appearance of having an itch for the White House.

"I find the response enthusiastic enough, warm enough so that I have no disposition to cut off this kind of activity," the Maine Democrat said in an interview about the increasing number of political appearances he has made in recent months.

Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate, has made dozens of speeches at colleges and political affairs in nearly 30 states over the last three months in what observers see as an attempt to build a power base for a 1972 presidential run.

When asked about this, Muskie said:

"They say I have the presidential bug. I really don't. But the more involved my explanations get, the more I get stuck with the bug. And I know what I'm saying now will find its way into countless headlines across the country."

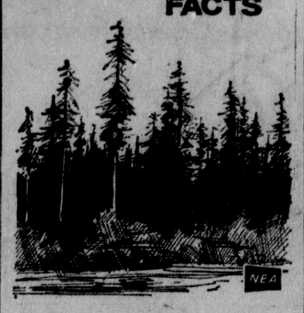

He went on: "It might be better not to comment at all, but then I would be accused of a lack of candor.

"If I had a decision to make today, I'd probably say 'No.' But I don't have to say 'No' today. I don't have to say 'Yes.' So I don't say either.

"I really don't know if I want to be a candidate for president. But I'm not ready to reject it."

Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton founded the Sisters of Charity in the United States.

Victory Fete Planned For Arch Moore

A regional victory celebration honoring Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. of West Virginia will be held at 6:30 p.m. April 26 at the McLure Hotel in Wheeling.

A reception, dinner and dance is being planned by Republican leaders of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler counties.

According to Howard V. Corcoran of Wheeling, state Republican finance chairman, George Lesho of Weirton has been named general chairman of arrangements.

Aiding him will be Northern Panhandle Republican executive committee chairman and Republican county finance chairmen. Duke Horstemeyer, also of Weirton, has been named chairman of publicity.

Corcoran said the county executive committee chairmen and county finance chairman will organize committees within their counties for the distribution and sale of tickets.

He said anyone purchasing a $100 reception ticket who is not a member of the West Virginia Republican Century Club will automatically become a member.

2 Motorists Charged In City Mishaps

Two drivers were cited during investigations of three mishaps over the weekend, police reported today.

One was charged Saturday afternoon when his auto struck a parked car at Lincoln Ave. and E. 8th St.

Ronald M. Waite, 37, of 314 Garfield St. was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control after his 1960 sedan struck a parked 1965 auto owned by Randy Sfakis of 407 Almont St.

Waite told police he was proceeding south on Lincoln Ave., swerved to the right and struck Sfakis' vehicle.

The mishap, at 7:52 a.m., occurred at Dresden Ave. and Trentvale St.

Gary Lee Casto, 22, of 780 Woodlawn Ave. told officers his 1961 sedan went out of control, hit the sign post and slid broadside about 75 feet. There was damage to the right side and frame of his auto.

Casto was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control.

About 1 p.m. Saturday two autos collided at E. 5th St. and Broadway, resulting in minor damage to both cars.

Olivia L. Pierpoint Wilson, 23, of Wellsville told police she was stopped in the line of traffic when her vehicle was struck from behind by another operated by Vermal Edward McComas, 45, of 139 Beechwood St.

McComas told patrolmen his windshield fogged and he didn't see Mrs. Wilson's car in time to stop. There was minor damage to the trunk lid of the Wilson auto and the right front hood of McComas' vehicle.

The Czechs And Their Oppressor

The people of Czechoslovakia continue to give the world a revealing look at how the Soviet Union stamps on or stamps out freedom — even the desire for it.

Their joy, which resulted from the Czech hockey team's defeat of the Russian team in a match in Sweden, triggered demonstrations and celebrations which became anti-Russian in nature.

REACTING QUICKLY, the Russians imposed censorship on the news media in Czechoslovakia, closed some newspapers and confiscated copies of others.

They have told the Czechs, in essence, to prevent further anti-Russian demonstrations or face troop action. They reportedly also told the Czechs that if their ultimatum is ignored they will run down future demonstrators with tanks.

Czechoslovakia is a nation in agony and the Russians would keep it that way.

The Czech leaders are in an almost unbearable position as they strive to keep their people from infuriating the Russians to the extent that they will reoccupy the country totally.

Though their hearts be with their people, the leaders must seemingly, at least, cooperate with the Russian overseers.

WITH THEIR NEWS MEDIA controlled, the Czechs could go underground and publish papers aimed at keeping alive the spirit of liberalization which seeks full expression within the country.

This would be extremely hazardous and require great bravery. But there have been freedom fighters in other subjugated nations who prized freedom above life itself.

The nations of the world are standing on the sidelines. But most of them are cheering for Czechoslovakia.

'Bridge-Itis' Worsens

The collapse of two bridges in Pennsylvania last week—one resulting in the death of a trucker—recalls once more the uncertain margin of safety in vintage spans.

In both cases, the trucks were overweight rigs, one by five tons and the other by nine tons. Each bridge had a 15-ton load limit.

Truckers who knowingly violate such restrictions and hauling firms which require them to do so at the risk of the lives of the drivers and other motorists deserve the full punishment of the law.

However, increasing traffic and the size and weight vehicles calls for an enlargement of the highway capabilities in all states. Columbiana County Engineer Bert Dawson this week revealed there are 170 spans in the county rated below 12 ton load limits.

More and more we are becoming throttled by "bridge-itis—" a chronic inability to carry normal traffic over valleys and streams. The most serious example, of course, is the Chester structure which has been placed under a 2½-ton limit for over a year. Last week's collapses in Pennsylvania stirred new concerns for the actual safety factor in the Chester Bridge.

In any event, the bridge problem is one which will have to be solved with a carefully planned schedule and implemented with adequate funds. As yet, we have seen no real evidence of either effort being applied toward a new Ohio River crossing.

A Matter Of Choice

A strong push from Ohio legislators is needed to keep a bill seeking to liberalize the state's abortion law from going down the drain as it did in the last session of the General Assembly.

The proposal currently is being debated in the House Health, Education and Welfare Committee.

LEGISLATORS ARE being hit with a barrage of letters opposing the measure which seeks to permit abortion in cases where there is a substantial risk that: the mother's mental or physical health would be adversely affected by continued pregnancy; a defective baby would be born and when the pregnancy was caused by rape or incest.

Opponents also have been vocal at public hearings which is certainly their privilege and is to be expected.

The surprising thing about the abortion debate is that lawmakers have failed to see that standard arguments point clearly to one conclusion: abortion is a matter of individual choice.

Women have testified on both sides of the issue; doctors have testified on both sides of the issue as have legislators and theologians. Strong beliefs exist in favor of abortion reform and against abortion liberalization.

So where does that leave the legislator?

He has these facts to work with: the present law is not adequate (abortions are performed all the time — some with serious consequences); doctors attempting to act in the best interest of their patients find themselves on the wrong side of he law; those with financial means get around the law by having abortions performed where they are legal; the fact it cannot be proved or disproved when a fetus has a "soul," means the decision is based upon an individual's conscience and a liberalized law would not force abortion on anyone who objected to it for religious or other reasons.

IT IS INCREDIBLE that an archaic law that forces mental and physical pain and dishonesty upon so many people would be so difficult to change.

In the final analysis, the legislator must realize that approval of the bill sponsored by Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-Maumee, does not force abortion upon those who reject it, but to vote against it imposes improper restrictions on those whose beliefs would permit abortion in specific cases.

Spring-A-Ling

April's promise of the warmth and beauty of another season's scattering spring fever cases about with the reckless abandon of a frightened flower girl racing down a church aisle with her rose petals flying every which way.

Daydreaming is commonplace.

For some reason, people are finding it easier to think about a favorite fishing spot, a special hiking trail or getting their boat out of dry dock than to concentrate on the business at hand.

Yard work at this time of year is a labor of love. Later on, as the grass shoots up at breakneck speed and weeds infiltrate flower gardens everytime your back is turned, lawn chores become just plain labor. Right now though, any outdoor work is a welcome break from the winter stay-in.

At the turn of the century, standard treatment for spring fever was: two ounces of sulphur, two ounces of molasses, mixed and downed before breakfast.

Thanks to modern technology, advance medical research and long hours of philosophical brainwork, the current advice about spring fever is: Don't try to treat it. Just enjoy it.

Isn't progress wonderful?

The Chart Gap

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Whenever the Defense Department has to convince our lawmakers that the vital interests of the United States are in danger, they resort to elaborate displays of charts. The development, stockpiling and delivery of charts is one of the most critical activities the Pentagon is involved in.

Art Buchwald

Through a close friend in the Pentagon, I was permitted to visit a top-secret Defense Department Chart Testing Center where all charts are tested before they are sent up to Capitol Hill.

The general in charge of the center said, "We've been working day and night on charts for the ABM congressional hearings. It's probably the biggest job we've had, but one misfired chart and the whole system could go up in smoke."

"IS THIS WHY THE CENTER is located so far from population centers?"

"Exactly. We don't want the taxpayers to know what we're doing. Also we have to watch security. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has built a chart system of its own. We believe our charts are still more reliable than theirs but we have to be ready with a second-strike capability in case they launch a damaging first-strike chart offensive."

"How did the charts the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee unveiled at the ABM hearings last week differ from yours?"

The general smiled. "They were very primitive—what we could call 'first generation' charts. You probably noticed their charts were so large that Sen. Gore was unable to reach the top of them with his pointer.

NOW, WE'VE BEEN IN the chart business a lot longer than the Senate, so we've managed to take advantage of the great strides in miniaturization, and our smaller charts can be launched from any easel with the same impact as their large ones. We can launch four charts to their one; or, if you want to put it another way, one Pentagon chart represents an overkill of 13 Senate charts."

"What are those men doing over there?"

"They're training for chart turning."

"I beg your pardon?"

"The military has its own chart turners, who have to know when to turn a chart to the exact second. If you turn a chart too early, you lose the impact of it, and if you turn it too late, your audience could get bored."

"It must require a great deal of skill," I said.

"All of our chart turners have been to the National War College and have been personally interviewed by Adm. Rickover. If you recall, a few weeks ago when Sen. Gore's subcommittee produced its charts against the ABM system, they had to press their chief counsel and his assistant into service as chart turners. It was a disaster."

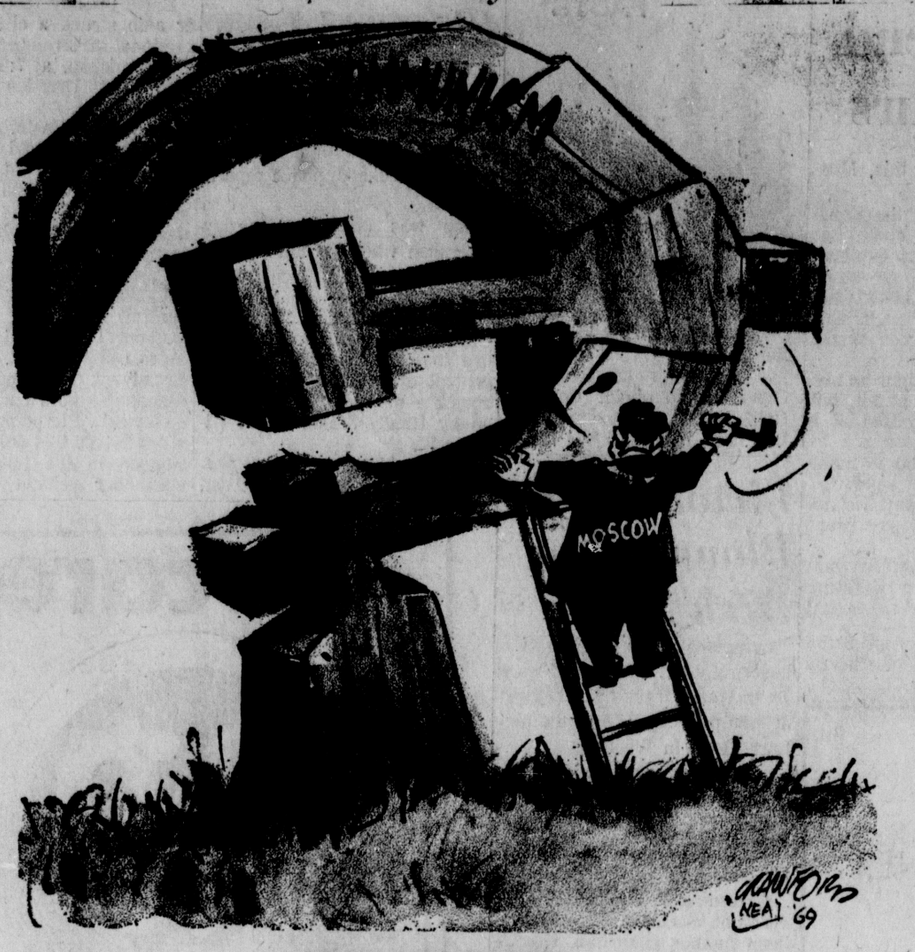

"WHAT IS THAT BUILDING over there with the machine guns on it and all the MPs around it?"

"That's where we're developing a new top-secret automatic chart-turning machine. Once it is deployed, no Senate committee will dare to attack a Defense Department budget."

"But won't this spiral the chart race and force the subcommittee to develop its own automatic chart turner?"

The general said, "When the security of the Pentagon is at stake, we are not interested in chart parity."

VICTOR RIESEL

Ike's Labor Views Return

WASHINGTON — Could be my old friend Quentin Reynolds was right when he wrote during an ancient war that the wounded don't cry. Maybe not. I know I wept from wounds on in a later war against an enemy as evil as the forces burned to the ground in Europe. It was back in '56, but the pains did ease when the call came through from President Dwight Eisenhower.

Victor Riesel

The General had just phoned J. Edgar Hoover, and talked of "this Mafia" which was rotting the nation. Like so many phenomena of civilian life, the Mafia's hold on this nation amazed him. Come down when the bandages are off, he said — and then in afterthought, he asked how he was "doing with the labor people."

Fine, sir, said I, just fine . . .you always have.

Indeed he had, despite reports of the columnists and observers and those who always expected Churchillian wit and style from men history hammers into heroes.

There was a pattern in General Eisenhower's relationship with the powerful American labor movement which cut its die on Richard Nixon. So the past is prelude.

In the beginning, it was pleasantly different for the General than it was ~~and~~ is — for Richard Nixon. Liberal politicos and intellectuals did not paint "Ike" as an antediluvian until he ran against Adlai Stevenson and Strontium 90.

AS A GENERAL, Dwight Eisenhower opened conquered Germany to American labor leaders and their representatives eager to build a powerful pro-Western labor movement.

By 1948—during the Philadelphia Democratic nominating convention — all the consequential liberals were for his nomination for president. They wanted to dump Harry Truman. And they were a powerful band — Mrs. Roosevelt, Jimmy Roosevelt, the Americans for Democratic Action, Dave Dubinsky, and until the last moment, Walter Reuther.

The General demurred. President Truman forgave. Four years later, Mr. Truman demurred. But by this time, the labor chiefs had discovered Adlai Stevenson. After the political V-Day, President Eisenhower forgave.

His postelection headquarters were in New York City's proletarian Hotel Commodore, which rattled occasionally over the New York Central tracks. When Mr. Eisenhower was about to appoint a Secretary of Labor, he talked with AFL President George Meany there.

Two of the President-elect's suggestions were labor leaders. Finally he appointed the late Marty Durkin, then president of the plumbers union. When Mr. Durkin resigned, the President named the late Jim Mitchell, so devoted to the labor movement that the union chiefs still call him the best secretary ever appointed.

A FEW DAYS AFTER the General's inauguration, CIO leader Walter Reuther asked to see him. The auto union leader came along with a colleague. They asked him what his policy would be. Would he use the presidency as a base for an offensive against labor? "Ike" said he would not be "reactionary." He added he'd be neutral. He'd go down the middle of the road.

Unlike Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt, the General wanted to stay out of the labor relations business. He wanted to be the business agent of all the people. He did not want the White House in strike settlements. But neither did he want to isolate himself from labor.

Sixteen years later, President-elect Nixon, at New York's Hotel Pierre, spoke similarly with George Meany and Walter Reuther — separately of course.

When the "movement" dedicated three stained-glass windows — to the Jewish Sam Gompers, the Catholic Phil Murray and the Protestant William Green — President Eisenhower came to the National Cathedral, from which he was carried in such solemnity for his final trip home.

IN APRIL 1955, when the AFL asked him to lay he cornerstone for its building, overlooking Lafayette Square, he came. In June 1956, when the AFL-CIO asked him to honor the building's dedication, he came. That day he went up to Mr. Meany's new office and looked out across the trees to his own White House, on which he said he had a "leasehold." Standing alongside him, the needle trades union President Dave Dubinsky said, "Mr. President, we built this here so we could keep an eye on you." The President roared.

When, during the most tense moments of the U-2 crisis, the AFL-CIO leaders invited him to join them at the opening of the union label show, he came, he sat with George Meany, he pointed to a big speedboat and quietly said, "George, that's the kind of craft I was going to give Khrushchev in Moscow."

When, during his last full day in office, the President was telephoned by Mr. Meany for a few words of farewell between two leaders, "Ike" said, come on over — and they sat together talking in the Oval Room for an hour and a half.

Yet President Eisenhower and the "movement" had fought. He was opposed to a dollar-an-hour minimum wage — sticking to 90 cents. He signed the Landrum-Griffin "disclosure" bill. He was a "tight money" man. There were pools of jobless.

They never considered him an ally. But they never thought of him as an enemy set for a tough showdown confrontation with organized labor.

This was the pattern set by Dwight D. Eisenhower. His vice president saw it cast. It will be, it seems to me, Richard Nixon's pattern too.

Berry's World

DAVID LAWRENCE

Just A Good American

WASHINGTON — Four days of mourning and the services at the national capital were in keeping with the two posts Dwight David Eisenhower held—supreme commander of the allied armies in Europe during World War II and president of the United States.

But the fifth day—focused on Abilene, Kan.—perhaps made an even greater impression on the American people.

For the illusion that American presidents emerge from an atmosphere of wealth or intellectual sophistication was swept aside as the story became known of just what contributed to the rise of a farm boy to the highest place any American has attained in world history in recent years.

MANY PERSONS may have been aware that "Ike", came from Kansas but they didn't learn the background until the obituaries and television specials began to portray the scenes where he spent his early life.

The United States is a vast territory but some who seek to chart its course or change its habits and customs seem to feel that people in all sections of the country think alike or react the same way to the aberrations of youth and regard rebelliousness as just "free speech."

Dwight Eisenhower never lost the viewpoint which he acquired in day-by-day experience as he grew up in a small town and worked so that he could help pay for the education of a brother.

President Nixon, is his eulogy at the Capitol rotunda Sunday, recalled that Gen. Eisenhower, shortly after the war ended in 1945, was honored in London and that in his address he remarked: "I came from the heart of America."

"Perhaps no one sentence," added Mr. Nixon, "could better sum up what Dwight Eisenhower meant to a whole generation of Americans. He did come from the heart of America, not only from its geographical heart but from its spiritual heart."

Plenty of essays are being written which assume that the lessons of the past no longer apply and that change is necessary if only for the sake of change. But some of these commentators never seem to have observed at firsthand the character and attitudes of the average citizen across the land.

Much can be learned in schools and colleges but direct contact with the people every day, especially as one works for his living alongside others, is often even more educational.

City life may produce frustrations, particularly in the exceptionally crowded centers, as today more than 70 per cent of the population of the United States lives on a little over one per cent of its land.

But American life—its true character and its undiminished patriotism—is best understood by talks with people in small communities where individual achievement, however unspectacular, still is regarded with respect.

Former President Eisenhower gave an interview in October of 1965 to Merriman Smith who covers the White House for the United Press International but it was not published until last Sunday. Mr. Eisenhower is quoted as saying in part:

"What I am more interested in today than anything else is the moral strength of the United States. Not merely that I'm taking about behavior. These are symptoms. These riots in Berkeley and gang warfare and juvenile delinquency are more symptoms.

"WE HAVE TO REVIVE our respect for such words as patriotism, dedication to country and so on—and, as a matter of fact, I hate to see youngsters going to college today dressed like tramps. I believe that to be sloppy forever about everything means that you're going to be sloppy in your thinking. . . .

"Now I'd like to think that we live by such words as decency and fairness and, well, you might say realization that each of us is a member of the proudest nation in the world and then act that way. I believe that we've got to think a little bit more about good citizenship."

other one presumably to annoy Red China.

However, the Romanians are expected to stall on the pact, at least until after the June conference, in order to preserve their official policy of strict neutrality in the Moscow-Peking dispute.

In practice, Romania's Communists are friendly with the Chinese in private gatherings and sympathetic in the press unlike other Moscow-wary Communist countries.

"The Chinese do not send troops into other countries and they do not assert their allies have limited sovereignty," Communist officials in the Romanian capital of Bucharest say.

After the disfavor that resulted from their invasion of Czechoslovakia last August, the Soviets are thought unlikely to be contemplating a similar move against Romania.

Collision

Mrs. Arnold Regouffre, who was in a car with her husband when the flames swept up from the river 175 feet below.

The Union Faith, with an all-Oriental crew and carrying a cargo of salt, cotton cloth, toys, handbags, household goods and footwear, was headed upstream.

The oil barge was one of three being pushed downstream by the tug.

"I happened to look," said Landry, "and I said 'Look, the ship is going to run into those barges. Then they collided, followed by an explosion.

"The whole front end of the ship blew up into fire and smoke and you could hardly see the ship. The pilot house was burning in three or four minutes."

A radio operator on the freighter, Yu Fang Fan, 35, said he felt a "tremendous collision" and "I looked outside to see what happened, but there was fire and smoke all around."

Yu said he was rescued when a tugboat pulled alongside the ship after he had yelled out the porthole for help. He said at least one more crewman also climbed out through the porthole.

Harbor officials feared that wharves and other ships along the wharves would be ignited by the oil-fed fires.

"It looked bad," said E. S. Reed, acting port director. One ship was moved from the area and preparations were made to move others, but firefighters kept the sides of threatened vessels sprayed with foam and water and none caught fire.

"I heard an explosion and the whole sky lit up," said John Buela, 42, a bridge patrolman.

Motorists on the bridge saw flames lapping up on both sides of the structure.

The river is three-fourths of a mile wide where the bridge spans it.

Buela was parked in his patrol cruiser on one of the bridge approaches. He and patrolman Ray Brewer, in another car on the other side, rushed to the center span.

"There was a second explosion and the flames engulfed the center of the traffic deck," said Brewer. By then all cars had been cleared from this area.

About two hours after the collision the bridge, which connects New Orleans with West Bank suburban areas, was reopened.

The 25 crewmen in hospitals were reported suffering primarily from minor burns and smoke inhalation.

The collision was the second on the Mississippi River in four months involving a Nationalist Chinese freighter.

Nixon

hasn't submitted his own proposals.

Mills, D-Ark., is chairman of the committee, which handles all tax legislation.

Nixon reportedly has told leaders of both the House and Senate that he hopes to present his budget recommendations and some other major legislative proposals soon after Congress returns from its current Easter vacation a week from today.

McCormack said he made his observations "in the spirit of having close coordination between the Congress and President Nixon."

During the first three months of the new Congress in 1967, he added, Johnson sent 23 messages dealing with major legislation.

Eleven messages have been sent to Congress by President Nixon since he took office on Jan. 20, McCormack noted, and only eight of them included legislative recommendations.

Area Motorist Jailed, Fined As Drunk Driver

A Smiths Ferry area man was fined $200 and costs and jailed for five days for drunken driving in one of 22 cases heard this morning by Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff.

Woodward J. Brown of Smiths Ferry RD 1 was cited Sunday morning about 3:38 a.m. by city police who also charged him with driving left of center.

Judge Chertoff fined him $15 and costs on the latter arrest, and ordered his driver's license sent to Pennsylvania authorities for possible suspension.

Gary Lee Casto, 22, of 780 Woodlawn Ave., paid $10 and costs on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control. He was involved in a mishap on Dresden Ave. early Sunday morning. His car struck a sign post.

2 Entries Bring Thieves $50 Here

Two buildings were broken into some time Sunday. One was vandalized and money was taken in the second.

George Serago of Surburban Heights, Wellsville, reported $50 was taken from a desk drawer at the Speedy Car Wash between 6:15 p.m. Saturday and 8:15 this morning. Thieves entered the building through a skylight and made their way into the office through a window.

The burglary was discovered by the manager, Ralph Yanni Jr., and William E. Cain, an employe. The owner's daughter, Cheryl, discovered the cash was missing.

Two envelopes containing the money had been removed from the desk. He said the thieves apparently were familiar with the layout of the building, since everything was "left very neatly."

The Resource Center in the old Garfield School building on State St. was vandalized between 5:45 and 11 p.m. Sunday, police reported.

Mrs. Dan Henderson, director, told officers someone entered through a basement window and ransacked the office, drank pop and broke a wire on an electric typewriter.

Judge Grants Continuance For Man In Arson Charge

Municipal Court Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today continued indefinitely the case of George Bradford Fox, 48, of Mt. Morris, Pa., who has been charged with arson.

The judge returned the ruling after Fox' attorney, Lawrence Smith, and Asst. Prosecutor Robert Simpson conferred on the matter and Simpson agreed to withdraw the arson charge and substitute one for malicious destruction of property, to which Fox pleaded not guilty.

Fox was sent to Woodside Receiving Hospital in Youngstown last month for examination after he allagedly attempted to set fire to his room in the Ceramic Hotel Feb. 18. The charge was filed by Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne. He had been returned to jail last Wednesday.

The indefinite continuance came after Judge Chertoff learned that Fox's brother, Thomas Fox of Akron, would attempt to get the man into a veterans hospital for psychiatric treatment. Fox told the judge he may be able to get his brother into the Leesville hospital. Fox was released into his brother's custody.

The arson charge was filed after a blaze broke out in Fox's room and he was rescued from the roof of a nearby building. Authorities said at the time he said he was attempting to escape from unknown persons who were "after him."

In another case, Roy Anthony of Wellsville RD 1, was fined $25 and costs on charges of assault and battery filed by Patrolman Homer (Clyde) Dillon.

Dillon said he was present when Anthony struck a city resident about 1:02 a.m. today at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Dillon said he "tried to calm him down," but Anthony then punched the man. The couple told the Judge this morning Anthony had been calling the man's wife on the phone and an argument had been carried on downtown before the East End incident.

Slide Undermines Home

"It looks now as if I will tear the house down," said Howard Wheatley, owner of this house at 335 W. 7th St. damaged when the earth and part of the foundation caved in Saturday morning, almost completely covering three used cars owned by the C. & J. Motors.

Wheatley said he had not definitely made a decision, but it looks as if the house may have to be razed. He estimated the damage at $5,000, and said although he has insurance on the house, this particular damage may not be covered.

Damage to the three cars has been estimated at about $4,000 by Charles Carroll, owner of C. & J. Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall and their two children who were living in the house moved their furniture out Saturday. Hall, a truck driver for the city garbage collection department, and his family are staying temporarily with friends on the northside.

Wheatley has men at work this morning shoring-up the house in an attempt to prevent further damage.

Easter Seals Aid The Handicapped

Easter brings us once more an appeal from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults to support their program by buying Easter Seals. Perhaps we should get better acquainted with the excellent work this organization is doing. Even though several governmental and private agencies have joined in the effort to help the handicapped, the number of persons who are crippled is growing faster than the combined ability of these agencies to serve their very special needs.

ONE REASON FOR this is that modern science has made it possible to save the lives of many babies whose handicaps in the past would have caused death in infancy. Another reason is the rapid increase in the total population.

—:—

A LARGE PART of the work being done by the society is rehabilitative. Before any meaningful program of rehabilitation can be effective, large numbers of young persons must be attracted to this field and given adequate training in physical, occupational or speech therapy. This the society is seeking to do. It is also working closely with the government and other agencies to prevent overlapping and duplication of effort.

DIRECT SERVICES to the handicapped include diagnostic clinics, treatment centers, aid to the housebound and sales outlets for products made by the crippled. Another valuable service is the provision of braces and crutches to children. These are returned when they are outgrown and exchanged for a larger size.

A SUMMER RESIDENTIAL and day camp program for crippled children is rapidly expanding. In addition o these activities, your Easter Seals support over 40 research grants in fields where more knowledge is needed to treat or prevent crippling diseases.

Q — I had a mild case of mumps in the first month of my pregnancy. Could his have any effect on my baby?

A — Although not so likely to cause birth defects as German measles, mumps in early pregnancy have been known to cause congenital heart defects in the baby.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

During Meeting Tonight

Big Slate Of Legislation Due For Council's Action

A big budget of proposed legislation is awaiting action by City Council at its first April meeting tonight.

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said he expects to present a minimum of seven and a maximum of nine ordinances and resolution, although most are concerned with comparatively routine matters.

He may present an amendment to the city's parking meter ordinance allowing installation of the devices on both sides of Washington St. between E. 3rd and E. 4th Sts., the south side of E. 4th St. between Walnut St. and Apple Alley and the north side of the same stretch between Walnut St. and Broadway.

The block - long stretch of Washington St. was given a new blacktop surface last year, covering a former brick "washboard." The affected area of E. 4th St. is in the vicinity of the former high school building, which was vacated by the public school system last fall. Parking formerly was prohibited to allow loading and unloading space for school buses.

COUNCIL also will consider an ordinance setting up a so-called "blanket bonding" program for public officials and employes. By purchasing the performance bonds from the same company, rather than individually, the city may save from $2,500 to $3,000 a year, the solicitor said.

Action also is slated on an ordinance to vacate LaBelle Terrace from the south line of Standley Way southwestward to the intersection with the east line of Eutaw Ave. The stretch is one of the dedicated but unused thoroughfares on the site of a tract near Maine Blvd. where the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority is scheduled to erect a 130-unit complex to provide housing for low-income families. Other streets in the affected area were vacated earlier.

Action also is due on an ordinance to fix the salary of the sewage department's utility - supplyman and put it on a par with the same post in the water department.

The job will pay $485 a month, retroactive to April 1, jumping to $514 on Jan. 1, 1970, and $550 on Jan. 1, 1971.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities to advertise for a year's supply of chemicals and other materials for use in the water and sewage departments.

The materials include 250 tons each of hydrate or pebble lime and aluminum sulphate, 50 tons of activated charcoal, 18,000 pounds of liquid chlorine, 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite, 100 water meters in various sizes and 6,000 feet of cast iron pipe ranging in size from 4-inch to 12-inch.

An ordinance will be introduced to transfer $10,000 to the state - administered police and fire pension funds — $5,000 for each department — and $10,000 to the materials and supplies account in the street department.

COUNCIL also will consider a resolution authorizing the city government to join the District 8 Council of Governments, a unit formed for the purpose of applying for federal police training funds under the federal safe streets act and crime control bill of 1968. The applications will be filed with the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, which has the task of administering the funds throughout the state.

The District 8 COG is comprised of communities and law enforcement agencies in Columbiana and Stark Counties.

Council also is due to act on an ordinance amending provisions for annual vacations of the members of the fire department, putting them on a par with members of the police department. Kapp said the change provides for time off for fractional years of employment, as is the case now in the police department.

Kapp said he also may draft legislation providing for payment of a claim against the city by the North Side Wildcat Oil & Gas Co., which alleged financial loss resulted when a piece of city equipment broke a pipe to a metering station in Thompson Park.

Girls Begin Rehearsals For Pageant

The final month of preparations began Saturday afternoon for the annual Miss Eastern Ohio pageant May 3 when 13 of the 24 entrants started rehearsals at the former IBOP building on W. 6th St.

The girls, representing Belmont, Monroe, Jefferson and Columbiana counties, went through the steps for the show's two opening dance numbers. Following the dance routine, the girls will participate in evening gown, swimsuit and talent competition.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — Is there some way in which I can improve the appearance of a shabby-looking black umbrella?

A. — Try brushing over it with a solution of ammonia and warm water.

Q.—How can I do a neater job of darning?

A.—Try putting a piece of net on the underside of the garment to be darned, then darn from the wrong side, weaving in and out of the net. Gives you a real neat and strong repair job. Many other such tips for making life easier in and around the home are contained in my household-hints manual.

Q.—How can I thaw frozen meat quickly?

A.—Try wrapping it in an aluminum foil, then placing in a moderately hot oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

A.—By treatingit with a half-and-half solution of turpentine and linseed oil. A thorough treatment should be allowed to dry for about two hours at least. Any excess may then be wiped off. Keep up the treatment, using a good clean brush, until the wood no longer absorbs the mixture.

employees since we could not realistically do so until the appropriations to operate the city for 1969 were complete. Our objective was to furnish services to the public, who are the taxpayers, and wage increases to all city employees right up to the limit of our tax revenue and other departmental resources. This we have done.

"During this period of preparing operating appropriations there has been irresponsible and dishonest publicity issued by those representing the Wellsville police. While we realize certain amounts of propaganda are apparently part of wage negotiations, we resent these erroneous presentations to the public, particularly in view of an agreement between police representatives and Council that no press releases would be made by either party during our negotiations. It is obvious to us and to the public that those representing the police have violated this understanding, and this statement—the police representative having been notified—terminates our wage discussions.

"Here are the facts:

"(1) The statement there is $95,000 in available funds with the insinuation the money could be used for police raises is false. They are aware, as we are, that only certain funds can be used to pay policemen, and that by law Council cannot use monies from other departments such as the Refuse Department, Sewage Dept., Floodwall, Cemetery, Water Department, Street Department, etc. to pay any policeman's salary.

"(2) The statement that the Police Department's initial request amounted to only $17,000 additional money is also false, since a conservative estimate would be $23,000 without even considering the request for another patrolman.

"(3) The theme used that the balance shown in the General Fund from 1968 could be used to pay policemen is certainly not accurate as they well know, or as any City Auditor could advise them. This, in our case must be used to apply against outstanding bills from 1968, County and State deductions which are withheld from the amounts the city receives, plus the fact that a large portion of this ballance was unanticipated revenue which could not be used as a basis for sustaining wage increases.

"Council has worked into the limited resources a 10 per cent down the line wage increase for all regular city employees. This is fair. For the police specifically we have offered a 10 per cent increase, additional uniform allowance, two additional paid holidays, some appropriated overtime pay, compensatory time off for additional overtime plus an extra week vacation, a total of four weeks at 15 years service.

"We have bargained in good faith. In fact we gave those representing the police our appropriation sheets revealing all sources of income and disbursements prior to our completing them. We have allocated up to the penny all money in our General Fund, and we now respectfully request that the policemen who are off, apparently sick, at the taxpayers expense and in disregard of the public welfare, return to their jobs."

Motorist To Face Herron After Mishap

Monty Mack Grimes of New Cumberland RD 2 was charged after his auto, southbound on N. Chestnut St., struck a utility pole, crossed the highway and hit a stone wall, Chief of Police William Webster said.

The car was demolished.

Traffic Jam Results From Bridge Limit

Automobiles — hundreds of them — creeped in a line nearly eight miles long Sunday in West Virginia and Pennsylvania as motorists, mostly from Ohio returning from the Easter holiday, cautiously crossed the Chester Bridge.

The gigantic "slowdown" lasted six and a-half hours.

Chester residents, who said traffic during the summer on Route 30 often is heavy, reported autos were backed up "bumper - to - bumper" from about 3 p.m. until 9:25 last night. Some said traffic was slowed at times as far as Laughlin's Corners in Pennsylvania, nearly eight miles distant.

There was no pause in the congestion.

"They started around 3 o'clock, and it wasn't just heavy, they were bumper-to-bumper," one Chester merchant reported. He added that his business was hurt because motorists caught in the snarl would not make an opening for local drivers to move through.

The autos crossed the bridge at a snail's pace, some stopping to read the signs before gingerly proceeding forward. The 45-foot spacing between vehicles was being maintained throughout.

Some residents said the entangled drivers ignored traffic lights and a motorist coming from a side street in Chester reportedly waited through three green lights before moving into the intersection. A minor accident resuled.

But at 9:25, as if a valve had been closed on a torrent of water, the autos disappeared down Carolina Ave. and traffic continued extremely light during the remainder of the night.

Man To Face Court Action

LISBON — Robert McKenzie, 46, of S. Lincoln Ave. Ext., will be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Columbiana County on a charge of sodomy.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said McKenzie was arrested Friday night after the chief, officer John Vokovich, Juvenile Court Probation Officer James Miller and Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis questioned three juvenile boys and an 18-year-old youth at Village Hall.

McKenzie, a laborer who lives alone, notified police Friday night he had been robbed by four youths at his home. He furnished the license number of the car. A St. Clair Township constable stopped the car and the sheriff's department returned the boys to Lisbon for questioning.

Police said the 18-year-old told them he had been at McKenzie's house before and he took the others there Friday night to show them a swimming pool the man is constructing in his basement.

Approximately $11 which McKenzie claimed was stolen was recovered. The boys said they asked the man for money for gasoline. No charges were filed against the boys, all from the East Liverpool area.

McKenzie was released from the County Jail Saturday after making $1,000 bond.

Gale Gordon Finds Peace In The Desert

Cecil Smith

The spindly ocotillos sprout scarlet tips to long, wavery fingers; the lupin and poppies and tiny bell flowers carpet the valley.

HIS CONSTITUENTS are about 1,000 permanent residents whose homes appear suddenly in the cacti or cluster around lush golf courses in this 45,000-acre private island surrounded by the vast, historic wilderness area of the Anza-Borrego State Park.

During the year, some 450,000 people visit the park in hopes of seeing the bighorn sheep leap the mountain crags or to look down into the frightening, wind-carved sandstone desolation of the Borrego badlands or to see dinosaur tracks or search for relics left 200 years ago when De Anza brought the first colonists to California through this valley and where the first European child was born.

FOR 13 YEARS while he has been a solid spine to one comedy series after another ("Our Miss Brooks," "The Brothers," "Dennis the Menace," "Here's Lucy," Gale and his actress wife, Virginia, have lived here in what he calls "a temporary three-room shack."

The site long has been cleared for their permanent home, but they've never gotten around to building it.

Too many things to do— Gale loves to work with tools, and there was his work shop to build a well to sink, a swimming pool, another swimming pool for their collection of eight mongrel dogs ("The result," sayd Gale, "of unplanned parenthood"), car ports, sheds, fences, pipelines. The house has been put off.

A REMARKABLY disciplined man as well as one of the finest comedy actors of this era, Gale's routine rarely varies.

He finishes his week's work on the studio sets, hops in his Porsche and zips through the horse country around Corona over the mountain plateau of the Warner Ranch, down the new Montezuma Highway carved out of the mountainside above Tub Canyon to his book-lined "shack."

Virginia seldom leaves the farm, even when the searing summer heat sends the temperature soaring.

"People ask what I find to do," she said. "You can spend afternoons watching the desert colors change. Or counting varieties of birds — I counted 67 last year. There are not hours enough in the day for all the things to do."

NOW THAT TV seasons grow shorter, Gale spends more and more time on the farm. He turns down offers for movies or TV guest roles on the off-season. Only charitable causes can pull him away, like a recent flight to Louisville, Ky., to make a speech to spearhead a cancer fund drive.

He keeps a small house in Hollywood, but Borrego is home.

Gale came to Borrego 40 years ago in search of 10 lost acres. His mother, English actress Gloria Gordon, had bought them for speculation but no one knew where they were.

Gale couldn't find them then, and in subsequent trips over the years he found no sign of his mother's land. Meanwhile, as people do, he fell in love with the desert.

"WHEN I BOUGHT Tub Canyon," he said, "I brought an expert surveyor down to check my property lines, and while he was here I sent him to look for Mother's land. He couldn't find it.

"Just a few years ago, a man wrote me asking if he could have an easement for a road over Mother's 10 acres to his property. I told him I'd give him the easement if he'd show it to me. Now, at last, I know where it is."

Some people are frightened by the desert. The solitude disturbs them. Across the mountains at Palm Springs there is glitter and clamor and neon dazzle where tourists and movie stars gamble.

Not So Hot

NEW DELHI (AP) — A tiny hamlet perched in the high Himalayas has failed to live up to its name. The village, 300 miles northeast of Delhi, is called Charam Pani (hot water) but it went through one of the severest cold waves ever this year.

Crash Killing 5 Hikes Road Deaths To 31

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) —Three couples, all friends for years, had left Easter church services and were motoring along Interstate 71 to a restaurant here for lunch when their car and a truck collided.

Five persons were killed and another was near death.

Lone survivor in the car, former Ohio American Legion Commander Floyd Hartpence, 71, Westervile, remained in critical condition today at Grant Hospital in Columbus.

The accident Sunday, which claimed the lives of Hartpence's wife, Beulah, 71, and four other persons, all from Westerville, helped boost Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to 31.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the accident was the most tragic in the state since February 1968 when a car-truck took the lives of six persons—five in one family—in Williamstown, Hancock County.

Other victims in Sunday's mishap were William Steele and his wife, Louise, the driver of the car, and Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt.

The truck driver, Paul Methenv, 42, Rt. 1, Sullivan, was in fair condition at Morrow County Hospital in Mount Gilead.

The patrol said the car was headed north on Interstate 71 when it crossed the median strip and collided with the southbound truck, which turned over on its side.

Hartpence's term as commander of the Ohio Legion ended in 1942 when he became superintendent of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home in Xenia. He held the latter post a number of years.

All three men were members Legion Post.

Groundbreaking Slated On Flood Control Project

The Huntington District U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plans to move about 5.5 miles of the Hocking River to the south of its present channel.

The river now runs through the southern edge of Athens, including a large portion of the Ohio University campus.

"Rechanneling the river should eliminate about 86 per cent of the spring flood damages by enlarging the drainage capacity of the channel," according to Don Johnson, secretary of the Hocking Conservancy District.

The project is expected to take about two years to complete.

Police Investigate Dynamite Explosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Lyndhurst police were investigating today a dynamite explosion in a $60,000 house under construction. The blast ripped open the rear of the structure Sunday night. No one was injured.

Police said the house, scheduled to be completed this week, was one of two under construction in the area by the Leshko Construction Co.

Hancock Sheriff Count Gets Under Way Again

Commissioner Joseph Manypenny of New Cumberland said members of the county court began working on Precinct 6 as the contest, filed by Democrat Lou Smoleski resumed.

The question of who is sheriff has been tied up in the courts for three months. The election was held five months ago.

Thursday when commissioners last met, they denied a request to throw out the ballots in Precincts 1 and 2. At the same time commissioners deferred action on two other notices on behalf of Republican sheriff Ralph Patrick.

Patrick succeeded Smoleski to the office Feb. 10 after the matter was taken to the West Virginia Supreme Court, but Smoleski won approval from the high court last month to contest the election held in November.

There were no changes in vote totals Thursday.

The rulings the commissioners delayed action on included a motion for a bill of particulars and a demurrer to strike and dismiss the election contest served on Patrick.

Atty. Richard Barnes, one of Patrick's lawyers, said the election notice is not sufficient in law and states no direct or precise allegations. He noted Smoleski is using the examination of ballots in an attempt to lay a basis for a contest.

Atty. Frank Cuomo, counsel for Patrick, in objecting to a delay in ruling on the two matters told commissioners the bill of particulars "goes to the heart of the election contest." It would, he added, give Patrick notice concerning what he is confronted with in order to prepare a defense.

Thursday night "commissioners denied a motion for payment of salaries and re-instatement of Smoleski's deputies.

Prosecutor Edward Zagula, according to Manypenny, has taken the two months to study them and will advise commissioners on how to act.

Your Diamond Birthstone

Lucky is the man or woman who celebrates their birthday in April for their special birthstone is the brilliant diamond. While we are all familiar with the diamond as the symbol of marital happiness, as the April birthstone, diamond is a victory talisman said to endow the wearer with superior strength and courage.

An anonymous Roman poet wrote many many centuries ago, "The evil eye shall have no power to harm, him that shall wear the diamond as a charm." The Greeks knew diamond as "adamas" - - unconquerable, and considered it as being the most valuable of properties. Another legend claimed diamond as a special amulet for women in childbirth, and it is still a tradition in some families to gift the new mother with a diamond when a baby is born. Some diamonds have even altered the course of history, such as the "Shah of Persia" owned by the Soviet Union. It was an indemnity paid by Persia for the murder of a Russian Ambassador. "The Regent Diamond", owned by France, was pledged to Holland for war funds and later placed in the state sword of Napoleon.

There are many ways in which the April-born may wear their diamond birthstone for this is our most versatile gem. Being durable, it is excellent for rings, cuff links, and all types of fine jewelry. It is really an excellent investment in beauty, one that will bring pleasure for you now, and generations to come.

ANN LANDERS

Inspiration For Blind

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I cannot truthfully say I read the letter signed "A Friend's Friend." It was read to me by Bill Fitzgerald, a colleague in the Michigan House of Representatives. I'm blind.

I was interested in theletter, as Bill knew I would be, because it concerned a mother whose son had decided tomarry a blind girl. The question was raised: "What if they have children?"

My wife, Jennie, who is also blind, married me 27 years ago. (We met in Michigan's School for the Blind in Lansing.) Jennie andI had 10 children — every one of them with perfect vision and in excellent health. Our life together has been wonderful. Our oldest child is 24. Our youngest is 7. We have two grandhildren.

In my 15 years as an elected member of the Michigan State House of Representatives, I've made countless trips from Lansing to Detroit. I used to travel with my Seeing-Eye dog. I now travel alone.

Dear Robert Mahoney: Thank you for an inspiring letter. And thank you, too, for the photograph of your family. The girls arelovely! The boys are handsome. You and Mrs. Mahoney have a great deal to be proud of.

Hard Worker

Dear Ann: I'm a boy, 18, a freshman in college. I never cut classes, I take good notes, and I do a considerable amount of outside study. Yet my grades are not better than average.

I know kids who cut like crazy, sleep during lectures, never have owned a notebook, and their grades are consistently better than mine.

Today I got back a psychology exam. I made a 78. The kid next to me got a 99. When I asked if he studied for the exam, he said, "Of course not. I faked it."

I'm ready to start "faking it" and see what happens. I bet I'll be on prbation before you can say "Wilhelm Wundt."

What's the secret of making good grades besides pure study? Is there some secret to it? Thanks for any help you can give me.—BEGGING FOR A C.

Dear Beg: First accept the fact that "all men are created equal" doesn't apply to educational aptitude. Some students soak up information like a blotter and retain nearly all of it. Others must work their heads to the bone in order to comprehend half of what they read and hear and then they forget three-fourths of that within six hours.

If you slave as hard as you claim and make only average grades, my advice is to keep plugging. You will form work habits which will prove far more valuable than a flashy grade point average.

I also suggest that you have a talk with your professors and ask them why you must knock yourself out to get mediocre grades. You might pick up some useful clues.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Permanent Problem

LONDON (AP) — The telephone cable manhole in the middle of busy Brigstock Road is staying where it is despite complaints that traffic backs up for miles whenever the cover is taken off. Telephone officials say it would cost 50,000 pounds ($120,000) to move the hole a few yards to the sidewalk.

Water is hotter just before it boils than after. As soon as it boils, some heat is released.

Should She Paint House Yellow?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A sure sign of spring is house fever. People talk to themselves and they begin to ask questions.

" . . .what do you think about painting an early American house in a yellow color . . . or what color would you suggest?" asks one woman.

The family has bought a beautiful old house that needs many repairs. But they want to make it look pretty outside, before they attempt to work indoors. They have put in the new windows and repaired the roof.

Yellow is a very tricky color, especially when it is used in large areas. It can be beautiful and lively, but it can be sickly, nondescript. It changes in various lights. Yellow has lots of charm, but it isn't the best color for a big old house. A very, very pale yellow might be pretty, but when it fades it may become drab.

Old houses should be painted in soft colors or white. Paint store catalogs show some of the new exterior paints that are especially attractive for old houses.

The champagne colors — ivories with a bit more zizz — are lovely on aged dwellings. But there are pretty blues, greens and grays that can put an old house back in the limelight.

It generally costs a great deal to paint a big house, so it is wise to play with many paint samples until you are sure.

AN ANXIOUS handyman is in the mood to build a swimming pool dressing room for the family, and is trying to find an interesting design that will not be too expensive.

One idea would be to build a sauna dressing room. The sauna could be used at other times and in summer the room could be a very adequate dressing room.

People use saunas in the cold weather and if one can take it, there is nothing like a sauna bath and a cold water plunge, they say. Lumber yards can provide plans for saunas.

One woman wants to spend spring building "cat traps." Last spring, the family made beautiful bird houses, only to find that "cats did away with birds." They mounted the houses about three feet above the ground along their driveway, hoping the birds would nest in them.

Cats are much maligned animals and as natural predators should be no more condemned for eating a bird placed within its reach than a dog should be for grabbing a rib roast beef the family left within its grasp.

BIRD HOUSES set only three feet above ground can provide a juicy meal for anything that can reach their contents. A garter snake can coil up a six-foot pole to reach a feeder.

One family discovered that when they peeked into a bird house to see whether the bluebird had laid its eggs, they found a snake sunning itself. Fortunately, the bluebird was unscathed and returned with a brood after the house was thoroughly de-snaked.

Many people unwittingly hurt their feathered friends by too much kindness. Some people "protect" wild ducks from hunters by sprinkling corn and other feed out their backyards, but in taking the ducks away from their natural foraging grounds, they make them prey to other enemies. In addition, ducks can starve to death when their kind friends stop feeding them, and they are off their own beaten path.

"Live and let live" should be the rule for birds and other animals. Many need a helping hand with food, but they've been fighting their own battles for millions of years in a survival of fittest society, and it is unfair for humans to trap anything that isn't absolutely necessary for food.

Instead of building cat traps, one could put cone - shape metal collars at the bottom of bird house poles to discourage cats, snakes and other animals.

Plan Offered For Repair Of Garage Posts

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Recently, I saw a clever and practical repair made to the supporting posts between the doors of the double garage.

Termites had infested the post up to a height of 100 inches above the garage floor. It had looked as though the owner was in for an expensive repair bill, but a hardheaded handyman came up with the following answer to the problem.

His first step was to cut the post through at a level above the termite damage after he had driven two 2-by-4s between the floor and the header above the doors. This took the weight off the post and prevented any sag or dropping of the front wall of the garage.

The next step was to build a box or form beneath the sawed-off post, making it just large enough to offer a full bearing for the post. Next, this was filled with concrete which came up just enough to have the bottom of the post slightly embedded. After four or five days, the box was removed, leaving a sturdy and permanent support.

In most cases, the center support of a double - garage door will be boxed in around the post, in which case the trim must be removed before the work is started and then replaced with any additional alteration the size of the concrete support may make necessary.

The actual cost of material for this job was less than $10 and the actual time required was five hours — an interesting repair at an interesting price.

In situations where the decayed post is set on a footing beneath the garage floor, the rotted wood should be dug out and the hole filled with concrete before the job itself is done.

The sergeant major serves as the representative in the Pentagon for all American enlisted men around the world.

Steel Continues Spending For Capital Improvements

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel Magazine's annual financial anaylsis of the steel industry shows the industry is spending more money than it generates and has been doing so for "seven of the past nine years."

Walter J. Campbell, editor-in-chief of the metalworking weekly, said Monday that the industry spent 8.6 per cent more money on new plant and equipment in 1968 than it did in 1967.

"Without massive capital spending, it is doubtful the domestic industry could survive the onslaughts from overseas competition . . .," said Campbell.

He added that overseas producers have great advantages in sharply lower labor costs and the support of two government, "theirs and ours."

The domestic industry relied heavily on borrowing last year, Campbell pointed out, adding:

"To keep its equipment modern the industry spent 57 per cent more dollars in 1968 than were amassed that year via retained cash flow (depreciation and earnings left after paying modest dividends to stockholders)."

The editor said there might be little cause for concern if capital expenditures exceeded cash flows for a single year, "but the steel industry has spent more for plant and equipment than it generated in seven of the past nine years."

Campbell said the industry's heavy reliance on borrowing to finance new plant and equipment pushed long term debt 11.8 per cent ahead of the level at the end of 1967.

Debt in 1968 accounted for 26.6 per cent of capital invested in the steel industry, compared with 25.2 percent in 1967 and 24.1 per cent in 1966, the magazine said.

Campbell said:

"We hold the problems faced by the industry in its fight for survival are not only problems for the steel producers but for the entire nation. We believe its plight deserves and demands deeper understanding and better treatment from the public and independent sectors than it has yet received."

The magazine estimated 2,850, net tons of raw steel were poured in the week ended April 5.

There's A Time To Get 'Down In The Gutter'

Most problems with gutters and downspouts can be corrected with little more than a cleaning.

Now and then repairs may be in order, but if tended to promptly, before damage has gone too far, this need not be a tremendous chore.

Leaking roof gutters fail to carry water to the downspout and then away from the house. An overflow will saturate the earth around the foundation and if there are weak spots in foundation waterproofing, water may seep into the basement.

MORE immediate are stains on the siding and eventually the peeling of paint. Water also may work its way through cracks in the wall or back under the roof, resulting in water staining of interior walls and ceilings.

Gutters need cleaning several times a year. You will need a long extension ladder, one that will reach well above the edge of the roof so that you can look down into the gutter as you work.

Use a stiff brush to clean out the gutter. A small garden trowel can be used to scoop up the debris. Hang a bucket from your ladder for the dirt you gather.

Make certain that openings into downspouts are protected with a screen or plastic cage made especially for that purpose. With such an item in place you will find that this is where you will find the greatest buildup of leaves, twigs and dirt.

PROTECTIVE screens are available that can be put over the gutter itself, the theory being that leaves will gather on the surface and then blow away. Such mesh coverings work if leaves are your only problem. For smaller dirt they can be a mixed blessing since the dirt filters through and then the only way to clean the gutter is to pry off the covering.

Water may not flow through the gutters properly because they are sagging. Simply renail the hangers. There should be a slight pitch toward the downspout.

Protect the inside surface of metal gutters with liquid roof coating. This will seal minor cracks. Openings large enough to cause leaks can be repaired.

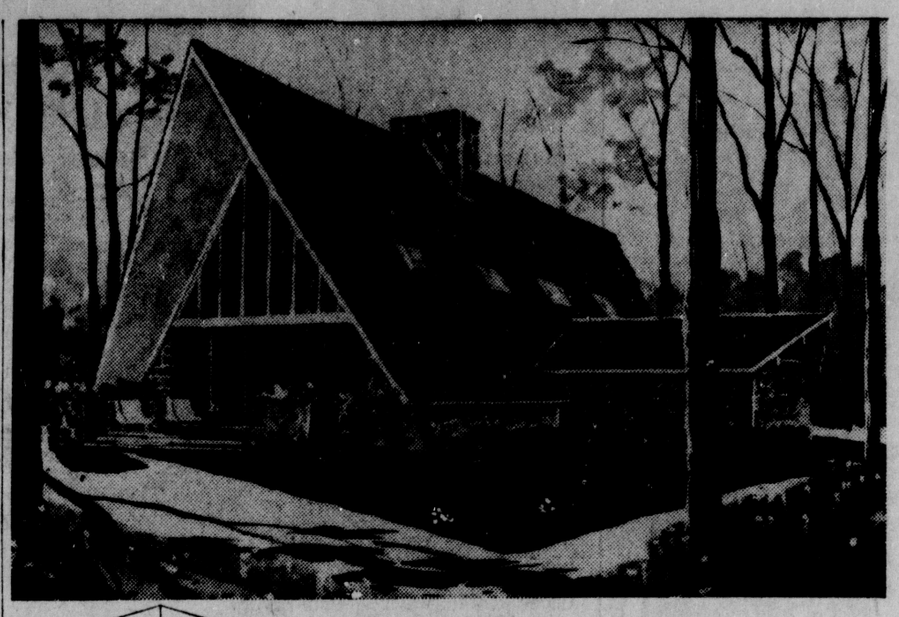

Clean out the rust, coat with roof coating and place a piece of heavy - duty aluminum foil over this, then apply more roof coating. Fiberglass patches used with a special resin also are available. Used as directed, they will last indefinitely.

OUTSIDE surfaces of gutters and downspouts should be sanded of peeling paint and rust and then repainted with a rust-resistant paint.

Sometimes water will gush out because the downspout has pulled away from the gutter. Get the downspout back in place and then use additional metal straps to hold it firmly against the house.

Downspouts may get filled with debris, too. Sometimes tapping with a heavy stick will loosen the matter. If this fails, run a hose down the downspout and then turn on the water to flush it out. If this fails use a plumber's snake to break through.

THIS A-FRAME front is almost all glass. The lower portion is sliding doors and the upper, narrow shafts which go to the roof. Appendages have been added to the "A" for design interest and more living space. One contains two bedrooms and the other, the side porch. Centered on the rear living room wall is a large stone fireplace. Above is the cantilevered balcony of the second floor. This adds drama to the interior, particularly with the living room ceiling soaring up to the full roof height. In the bedroom extension wing, closets project around the central planter and windows are over the tops of closets. Storage is abundant in HA594M, with its 1,100 square feet on the first floor and 366 on the second. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501.

Steel Dowels Advised For Post Problem

A P Newsfeatures

Q: There is a concrete patio at the back of our house. I plan on enclosing it. I have been told to use 4-by-4s for the support posts at the lower end of the roof. But how do I attach the posts to the concrete?

A: The trick is to use a steel dowel about six inches long for each post, half of which will be set in the concrete and the other half inside the bottom of the post. If you can't get dowels of the proper size, you may have to cut a half-inch steel rod into pieces of the necessary lengths. The most difficult part of the project is making a hole in the concrete into which half of the dowel is inserted. You'll have to use a star drill of the right size or a power drill with a carbide- tipped bit.

Sometimes the hole will be of exactly the right size and you'll have no problem. But sometimes the sides of the hole will chip away and the dowel will fit too loosely, in which case you'll have to fill the hole with a concrete mix and then, after it has set a little, push the dowel into it, being sure that it is absolutely verticle. After a day or two, it will have hardened sufficiently to continue with the job.

Drill a hole three inches long into the center of the bottom of the post. Make the hole slightly smaller in diameter than that of the steel dowel. Next, place the post over the dowel and hammer into place. Use a wooden mallet or, if you don't have one, place a heavy piece of wood on top of the post and hammer down on that.

The top plates — usually 2-by-8s will hold the posts steady when they are put into place. But, until this is done, it is wise to hold the posts in proper alignment with 1-by-2s, 1-by-3s or 2-by-3s. Be sure to use screws, not nails, so that the wood strips can be removed easily if they later interfere with the placement of screens or storm windows.

Private Rites Due For Man In Turnpike Shooting Spree

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Donald Lambright, described by his mother as a victim of his own protest against racism, will be buried this week in Cleveland at private services.

"No one but us to see," Lambright's mother, Mrs. Winifred Lee of Cleveland, said Sunday.

Lambright, 31, killed three persons, including his wife, and wounded or injured 17 others before killing himself Saturday in a violent shooting spree along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Lambright was the son of Negro comedian Lincoln Perry, who performed as Stepin Fetchit. His mother has since remarried, but is now separated.

"Donald was, himself, a victim of the racism that is abroad in this land," his mother said in a prepared statement Sunday. "He was a brilliant young man caught in the undertow of a confused society, a brilliant scholar, a talented musician.

"He found it impossible to reconcile himself to the fact he could not reach employment commensurate to his abilities in society," his mother said.

"This holocaust could then be considered as a protest against the establishment. We hope that it will have some effect on the status quo and other black young men will not be thwarted in their efforts toward achievement as Donald was."

Mrs. Lee said that as a student at Wabash College in Indiana, her son had been unable to do his laundry or get his haircut because of his race. She said his nose was broken by a white man when he was in the Air Force.

She said that after the Air Force, he went to Lincoln University at Lincoln, Pa., and while there became "very concorned about the lack of Negro rights in this country."

Lambright had since dropped out of Lincoln and gone to work at a state employment office in Cleveland. He quit that job recently. His mother said he had returned to Lincoln last Saturday morning and was on his way back to Cleveland when the shooting broke out.

Dr. Middleton H. Lambright Jr., who adopted Donald at the age of 8, said "He was just sick... As far as I am concerned, he needed psychiatric help."

A maternal uncle, Harold Johnson of New York, said after the shootings that Donald Lambright was "imagining things and suffering from delusions. He was paranoic."

Mrs. Lee denied Sunday that her son belonged to any Black Nationalist organization, although Johnson said Lambright was a member of the Republic of New Africa, a nationalist group.

The name Vulcan was given, in the 1800s, to a planet supposed to exist between Mercury and the sun, but its existence was never proved.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

More On Plastic Baskets

DEAR FOLKS: Not long ago I asked you for suggestions on uses for little plastic berry baskets.

Heloise

My goodness, was I ever swamped with the replies. With all the marvelous ideas, it surely was difficult to decide on which ones to print.

Here are a few that I thought were especially clever ideas:

A hanging flower basket or ornamental bird cage can be made by wiring two, four or six baskets together (open sides facing). These may be wired in umpteen thousand shapes. Place either flowers or a little lake bird on a perch inside the "basket" or "cage." Twine flowers or vines on the outside.

A little butterfly added to the side of the flower basket would give it that added something.

If using the white baskets, how about a red bird inside and twining green ivy around?

Also for those of you that are bothered with birds eating the seeds you just planted . . . cover the seeds with the baskets. Also keeps the snails away.

To entertain children in a hospital . . . you could make a toy zoo.

Place toy animals on a long piece of cardboard, then turn baskets upside down over each animal and glue in place.

Isn't that a cutie? What child wouldn't love that?

And with the Easter Sunday just around the corner you can make the cutest little Easter baskets for the wee ones.

Weave colored ribbon around the basket and tie with a bow. The handle can be made from pipe cleaners twisted at each corner and crisscrossed. With a bit of grass in the bottom, your little one is ready for Peter Cottontail or the Easter egg hunt.

And mothers, did you know that you can make tote purses or doll furniture for your little girls out of these baskets?

Great in the bottom of lunch sacks, for centerpieces, shadow boxes, and containers for fruit or cookie gifts.

Wosie, I could just go on and on . . . about all the ideas that you darling people have suggested.

A basket of thanks.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I reached in my closet for an item of clothing and couldn't find it anywhere. Where do you think it was?

My teenage daughter had it on. My, did I feel old!

Where does the time go?

DEAR HELOISE: Hate to throw away those old square dance skirts?

Why not make your own square dance tablecloth and bring back those old memories.

I cut the waistband off a lovely full skirt, tapered and stitched the opening so the skirt lay flat. Then opened up the band and piece it to fill in the opening.

DEAR HELOISE: I found a marvelous way to fry "greaseless" eggs with water!

With your grease hot, put your egg in the pan and immediately turn the fire on low. Add about three tablespoons of water and cover the pan. This eliminates the chance of a broken yellow since there is no necessity of turning the egg or basting it with grease.

Cook to the desired doneness and you end up with a professional-looking egg.

Thieves Get $30 In Pants Pocket

A Salineville man had $30 stolen from his pants pockets Saturday as he tried on a new pair in a city store.

James Randolph of 3 Lincoln St. told police the incident occurred about 3:45 p.m. as he was trying on clothes at the Arrow Pants Shop in the Diamond.

Randolph reported he left his old pair of pants in a "change room" and, wearing the new pair, walked to a mirror in the main part of the store to check the fit. Meantime, he said, two young boys entered the room apparently to try on something. After leaving the store, Randolph retrieved his old pants and found a $20 bill and a $10 bill were missing.

Ohio Senate Will Air Fluoridation Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio Legislature, preparing today to get back into the business of lawmaking following an extended Easter weekend, face hearings on a handful of controversial bills — including one requiring statewide fluoridation of water.

The lawmakers will begin their 14th week of work Tuesday and the fluoridation proposal comes up for its first hearing before the Senate Committee on Education, Health and Welfare at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The bill requires all but the smallest water supplies in the state to contain between .8 and 1.3 parts of fluorine per million parts of water.

Under the bill, water systems serving 20,000 or more persons would have to be fluoridated by Jan. 1, 1971 and those serving 5,000 or more by Jan. 1, 1972.

At present, 43 per cent of Ohio's population drink fluoridated water, including residents of Cleveland, Akron and Toledo.

In addition to the fluoridation, the committee will hear two other proposals.

The first would upgrade the Lima branch of Ohio State University into a four-year autonomous college by 1971. The second is an administration bill to provide tuition grants to students from needy families. The grants would range from $100 to $900 for between 15,000 and 20,000 students.

Other committee hearings this week:

—The Senate Judiciary Committee after Tuesday's session will hear a bill requiring conglomerates wanting to take over an Ohio firm to first make a full public disclosure of their plans for that firm.

After Wednesday's session it will hear a bill to permit nonprofit corporations to distribute funds to other nonprofit corporations without jeopardizing their tax exempt status.

— The Senate Committee on Agriculture and State Agencies at 8 p.m. Tuesday will hear a bill prohibiting swimming fees in state parks. The bill has been amended to allow those under 16 to swim free, but provides a 50-cent fee for adults.

—The Senate Finance Committee at 8 p.m. Tuesday will hold its first hearing on an administration bill to create a State Planning Office within the governor's office.

—The House State Government Committee at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday will hear seven bills to increase state pension funds.

—The Senate Committee on Urban and Highway Affairs at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday will hear a bill to increase the cost of auto licenses from $10 to $20. The increased fees would go for road improvements in local communities.

—The House Judiciary Committee at 10 a.m. Wednesday will hear a bill to revise Ohio's Juvenile Court laws to conform with recent rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court.

—The Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee at 10 a.m.Thursday will hear a House-passed bill to prohibit racial discrimination in cemeteries.

All Of Minor Nature

6 Area Accidents Probed By Patrol Over Weekend

Six area accidents were investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon during the weekend.

All were minor, with only two persons complaining of injuries, but apparently not treated.

A Sebring motorist was cited for driving while intoxicated following a one-car accident on Route 164 about a mile south of Route 518 Sunday at 8:15 p.m.

Bessie A. Johnson, 57, of Sebring, was driving a 1960 sedan when it went off the left side of the road and struck a cement culvert, then continued on for 45 feet and came to rest in a field.

A city man was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign following an accident on the East Liverpool Rd., 160 feet north of Route 170, Sunday at 8:20 p.m.

As George E. Ryckman, 54, of 3289 St. Clair Ave. drove his 1967 sedan onto the East Liverpool Rd. from the Route 30 exit ramp, his vehicle struck a 1967 auto operated by Gary D. Lones, 24, of RD 1.

The Ryckman auto received moderate damage. Lones' vehicle was damaged severely on the left side. Ryckman was cited.

A Wellsville area motorist was cited as the result of a two-car accident on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. Saturday morning at 8:45.

Susan D. Fellouzis, 16, Wellsville RD 1, was driving north in a 1966 sports car and started to make a left turn from the right northbound lane and struck a 1963 sedan operated by William E. Headley, 35, of Wellsville RD 1.

A city woman complained of injuries, but was not treated, when her auto was involved in an accident on the East Liverpool Rd. just north of Route 170 at 2 p.m. Saturday.

William L. Smith IV, 21, of Skyview Manor pulled his 1966 station wagon from the exit ramp and it struck the side of a 1965 sedan driven by Joann Spencer, 41, of 1880 Anderson Blvd.

Smith was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign.

Two Cleveland area men were uninjured in a two-car accident on Route 170, just south of St. Clair Ave. Ext. Saturday at 7:43 p.m.

As Jerry Garvey, 19, of Lakewood, halted his 1963 coach for a stop sign on Route 170, it was struck by a 1960 auto operated by Donald F. Jones, 50, of Cleveland.

Jones told the patrol that he was attempting to make a right turn south when an auto passed on the right, forcing his car into the Garvey auto.

The unidentified motorist did not stop.

A Glenmoor motorist was uninjured in an accident on the Cannons Mills Rd., about a half-mile east of Route 267 Saturday at 11:10 p.m.

Gerald E. Bess, 39, of Lisbon St. Ext. was westbound in a 1966 station wagon when it ran off the road, struck a mail box and came to rest on the berm.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Psychologists believe that being an only child or the eldest child leads to greater achievement. The theory is bolstered by the fact that 21 of the 23 astronauts who have taken part in space flights are either only children or eldest sons. Parents tend to lavish more love on and expect more from an only child or the first born.

2 Ex-U.S. Commanders Claim

War Stepup Held Needed In Averting Saigon Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former U.S. commanders in the Vietnam war say American escalation of the fighting was essential in preventing the fall of South Vietnam, but White House restraints ruled out a traditional military victory.

In their 347-page "Report on the War in Vietnam," published today by the Pentagon, Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Adm. U. S. G. Sharp said their strategy in building up the American effort from 1964 until last year was generally successful and ended any chance of an enemy victory.

Westmoreland, who ran the U.S. war effort in Vietnam until he became Army chief of staff last June, said without the buildup of American troops in 1965 he doubts the South Vietnamese could have held out for more than six months.

But, he wrote, restrictions by the White House on military operations against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries in neighboring Laos, Cambodia and North Vietnam "made it impossible to destroy the enemy's forces in a traditional or classic sense."

Sharp, who as U.S. commander in the Pacific planned the air war against North Vietnam until his retirement last August, for his part said the "profound effect" of American bombing of the North probably induced Hanoi to seek relief by agreeing to the negotiations now underway in Paris.

"The cumulative effects of air operations and the demands of the war in South Vietnam resulted in unprecedented stresses and strains on the North Vietnamese economy, production and distribution systems, the life of the people and the political control apparatus," Sharp wrote.

"Conditions may have been sufficiently serious to have induced North Vietnam to use the tactics of 'negotiation' to gain a period of relief in order to rectify its more pressing problems, and to reinvigorate support of the war in South Vietnam."

Although calling the bombing "the most precise in history," Sharp implied the raids could have been even more effective were it not for restrictions imposed by Washington for non-military reasons.

"From a military standpoint, both air and naval programs were inhibited by restrictions growing out of the limited nature of our conduct of the war," he said.

Sharp's report covers a period from 1964, when the air war against the North was launched, through June 30, 1968, after it had been curtailed.

The raids started as punitive measures, but were increased to cut North Vietnamese support of the enemy troops in the South and to prove U.S. staying power, the report said.

The admiral wrote that without the bombing, the U.S. military price of the war would have been much higher.

"The uninhibited flow of men, weapons and supplies through North Vietnam to confront our forces in South Vietnam could have had only one result for the United States and its allies—considerably heavier casualties at a smaller cost to the enemy," Sharp said.

Fee On Beehives

Among them is one of 25 cents a beehive up to 50 hives, and 10 cents a hive for over 50.

Embalmers are examined by a state board for $25 but their licenses to practice are renewed annually for $10.

Driver Placed On Probation In Fatal Accident

LISBON — A Lisbon driver whose car collided with a motor scooter on Route 30 near West Point last July 2, killing a passenger on the scooter, has been placed on probation for two years.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court ordered Michael R. Ward, 21, of 422 W. Washington St. to surrender his operator's license for six months.

The judge said the court will reconsider the suspension of Ward's right to drive upon proof he has had an eye examination and if the driver's examination department of the Ohio Highway Patrol will issue him a license knowing the results of the examination.

Indicted by the September Grand Jury, Ward pleaded guilty Sept. 30 to the patrol's charge of traffic manslaughter. Patrolmen alleged he made a left turn in front of the southbound scooter carrying Harry Gunhold, 34, and his wife, Freda, 32, of Balmain, New South Wales. Mrs. Gunhold was killed.

Both Drivers Unhurt In Two-Car Mishap

Both drivers escaped injury Sunday evening in a two - car collision on Route 30 in Greene Township.

Richard W. Campbell, 21, of Wellsburg RD 2 was headed east when he stopped to make a left turn. His vehicle was struck from the rear by a car operated by Benjamin A. Breard, 22, of 3310 Fairmont St., Dallas, Tex.

Campbell's auto received $75 damages and Breard's $25. The accident was investigated by Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa.

Games In Washington, Cincinnati Open Baseball Season

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Four teams have a shot at the title, with only the Astros and Padres out of it.

Going out on a limb, the choice here is the Dodgers. The club has the best pitching in the West, with Don Drysdale, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Bill Singer starting and Jim Brewer in the bullpen. Rookies Ted Sizemore and Bill Sudakis bolster the infield, with veterans Wes Parker and Jim Lefebvre also starters. Ron Fairly is the only good-hitting outfielder, though Strughers' Andy Kosco may add punch. Fleet Willie Davis holds down center. Catcher Tom Haller is one of the best around. Manager Walter Alston is starting his 16th season with the Dodgers, the longest current tenure in the majors.

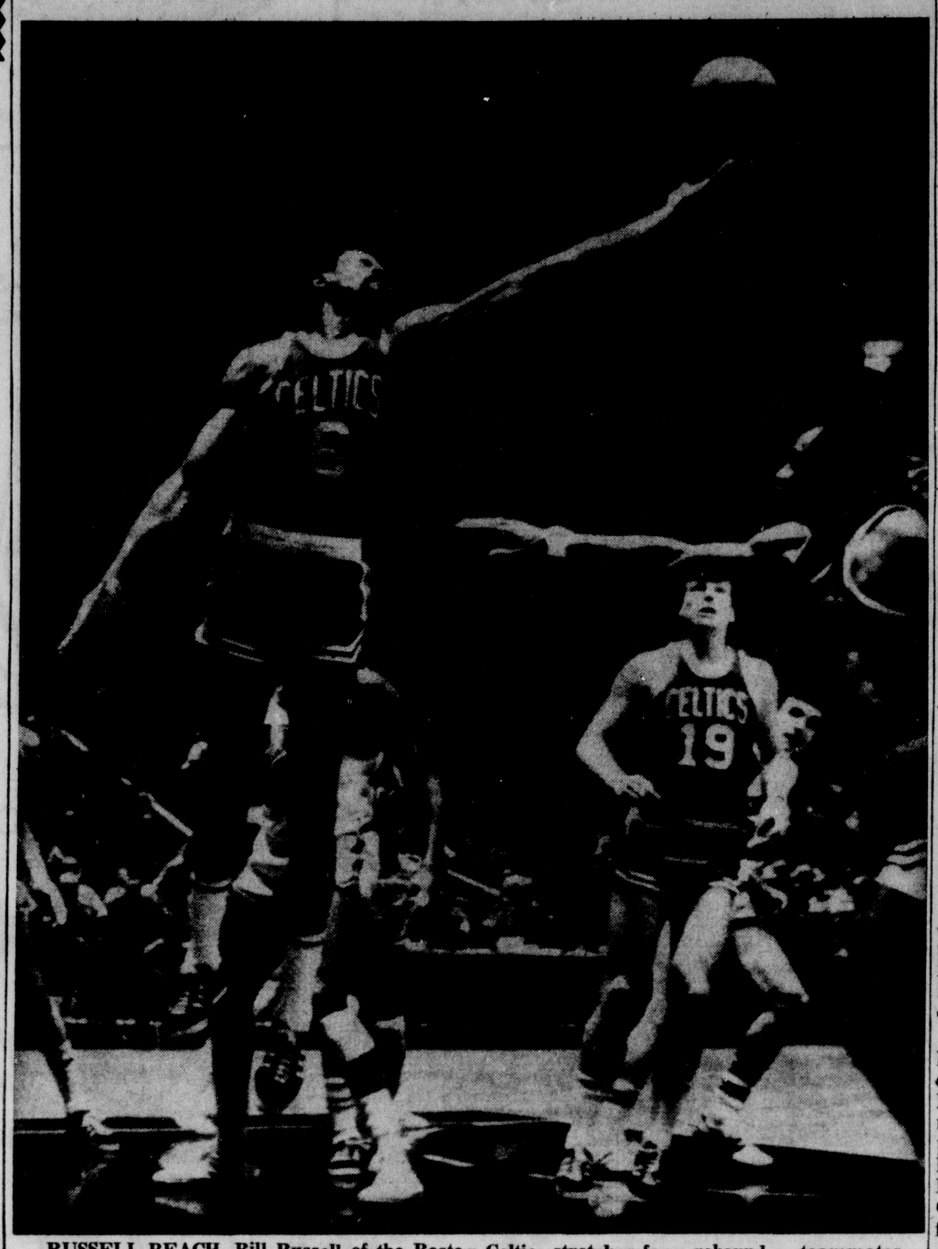

THE BRAVES, with good hitting but mediocre pitching, should finish second. Orlando Cepeda completes a good infield with Felix Millan, Sonny Jackson and Clete Boyer. The outfield of Hank Aaron, Rico Carty and Felipe Alou is devastating. Catching headed by Bob Tillman, is weak. The pitching of Pat Jarvis, Phil Neikro, Ron Reed and Ken Johnson is not overpowering, but it is adequate. Jim Brtton heads the bullpen corps for Lum Harris.

The Giants, which have finished second four years in a row, may sink to third this year. Juan Marichal is top-flight, but the other pitchers, Jim Perry, Mike McCormick, Ray Sadecki and Bob Bolin, are showing signs of age. Frank Linzy is the top reliever. The outfield of Wille Mays, Jim Ray Hart and Bobby Bonds is excellent, and Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt hold down the right side of the infield. The left side, with Hal Lanier and rookie Bob Etheridge, is weaker. Catching is unsettled, with Dick Dietz, Jack Hiatt and Bob Barton battling for the job. Clyde King may have problems in his rookie season as manager.

THE REDS will finish no lower than fourth, and may go higher if the pitching jells. Even with weak-hitting Woody Woodward at short, Cincinnati has the best hitting team around with Lee May, Tommy Helms, Tony Perez, Alex Johnson, Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and John Bench. Pitchers Jim Maloney, Tony Cloninger, George Culver and Gary Nolan have all had big years, but injuries have hampered them from time to time. The bullpen, headed by Clay Carroll, is shaky. Hustling Dave Bristol will need managerial magic to help the mound corps.

The Astros seem a sure bet for fifth. The outfield of Jim Wynn, Curt Blefary and Jesus Alou is strong, but the trading of Rusty Staub leaves a hole at fist. Joe Morgan, Dennis Menke and Doug Rader complete an ordinary infield. Retread Johnny Edwards is the catcher. The pitching staff, never one of Harry Walker's strongpoints, is weak. Larry Dierker and Don Wilson are fast but wild, while Denny LeMaster and Bill Monbouquette are getting along. The bullpen is a weak point.

The reason the Astros won't finish last is the expansion San Diego Padras. Preston Gomes, in his first try as a major-league manager, is in for a depressing season. The Pardres drafted for youth, and Al Ferrera, Tony Gonzalez, Ollie Bown, Roberto Pena and Ed Speizio are the only familiar names among the regulars. Al McBean, Dick Selma, Billy McCool and Tom Kelley are features of the pitching staff.

Celtics Surprise Knicks

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers rested today with visions of a crown on their heads while the Atlanta Hawks prepared for another fitting tonight.

But hold everything because the Boston Celtics, present kings of the National Basketball Association, appear to have little intention of abdicating.

The aging Celtics, who won the NBA title last year and then finished a disappointing fourth in the Eastern Division this season, look ready for another coronation now that the playoffs are underway. After winning the division semifinal series in five games from Philadelphia, Boston opened the division final with an impressive 108-100 victory over the red-hot New York Knicks in a nationally-televised game Sunday in New York.

The winner of that best-of-7 series, which resumes Wednesday night in Boston, meets the West winner.

The Lakers took a big step in that direction by winning their fourth straight from San Francisco, 118-78, Saturday night to win their semifinal set and now await the victor in the Atlanta-San Diego series.

Atlanta, after a 112-101 triumph Sunday in Atlanta for a 3-2 lead, can wrap up its series tonight in San Diego, where the Hawks have not won this season.

The Celtics moved to a 70-55 lead in the third period against the Knicks, who came off a surprising four-game sweep over Baltimore in their semifinal series. Although New York made several desperate rushes in the final period, cutting the margin to 94-90 and then 98-94, Boston with its playoff saavy always had the answer.

Veterans John Havlicek and Bailey Howell, who each had seven points in the final 12 minutes to hold off New York, finished with 25 and 21, respectively. Walt Frazier had 34 for New York.

Atlanta, led by Joe Caldwell and Lou Hudson, took a 53-50 halftime lead, increased it to 84-77 after three periods and then poured it on for a 95-78 spread. Caldwell totaled 26 points and Hudson 20 for the Hawks. Elvin Hayes had 27 for the Rockets.

Divisional Play Started

by ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball, troubled by a heated players pension dispute much of the winter, was poised today to launch a new season with four new clubs, five rookie managers, a new commissioner and opening games at Washington, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

The Washington Senators, who lured Ted Williams out of baseball retirement to take over as manager, faced the New York Yankees in the nation's capitol. President Nixon was expected to toss out the first ball in one of two afternoon games.

Cincinnati was host to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the other daylight opener.

The Atlanta Braves clash tonight with the San Francisco Giants, whose new Manager Clyde King has installed Willie Mays in the leadoff spot for the first time in the center fielder's illustrious career.

All other teams in both leagues rip the lid off their season Tuesday. Minnesota is at Kansas City, Cleveland at Detroit and Boston at Baltimore in day games and Seattle at California and Chicago at Oakland at night in the American League.

Tuesday's National League action finds Montreal at New York, Philadelphia at Chicago in daylight affairs and Pittsburgh at St. Louis, Houston at San Diego and the Giants at Atlanta again at night.

Three other skippers, though not new on the managerial scene, will be making their debuts with new clubs, including Gene Mauch at Montreal, Hank Bauer at Oakland and Joe Gordon at Kansas City.

There's something else new this season. Both leagues have adapted East and West divisional setups. Division winners will collide in postseason playoffs to determine the World Series opponents.

Only a month ago, the clubs and players finally got together in their winter-long dispute over the player pension program. The dispute delayed the opening of full-scale spring training workouts.

President Nixon, who already has made some changes in Washington hoped to add another today by sparking the Senators to their first presidential triumph in seven years. His only previous appearance was as vice president and substitute for the late President Eisenhower in 1959. The Senators won that one.

After Mr. Nixon's performance, Manager Williams, whose five-year contract involved $1.2 million, planned to send Camilo Pascual, 13-12 last year and loser in the 1968 opener, against Yankee ace Mel Stottlemyre, 21-12.

Cincinnati, oldest team in professional baseball, called on young Gary Nolan, 9-4, to pitch against Dodger veteran Don Drysdale, 14-12.

San Francisco's ace, Juan Marichal, 26-9, will go against Pat Jarvis 16-12, at Atlanta tonight. The Braves will be seeking their first home opener since they moved from Milwaukee at Atlanta in 1966.

HIHS Meeting Set At Irondale Fire Hall

There will be an HIHS League district meeting at the Irondale Fire Hall tomorrow at 7 p.m.

All managers must attend this meeting.

Leafs Fire Imlach

Bruins, Blues, Canadiens Clinch Hockey Playoffs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It will be Montreal against Boston and St. Louis against somebody in the National Hockey League's East and West Division Stanley Cup final playoffs.

The Canadiens, Bruins and Blues all completed four-game sweeps of first round Cup opponents Sunday while the Los Angeles Kings knocked off Oakland to knot the other series at two games each.

Montreal held off a furious New York rally and beat the Rangers 4-3. Boston nipped Toronto 3-2 to finish off the Maple Leafs and moments afterwards, Toronto President Stafford Smythe finished off Manager-Coach Punch Imlach, by firing him. St. Louis downed Philadelphia 4-1 and Los Angeles took Oakland 4-2.

New York broke through against Rogatien Vachon, who took over when Montreal's netminder, Gump Worsley, came up with a sore knee, with quick goals by Dave Balon and Rod Gilbert and added another by Don Marshall in the third period, but it was not enough.

It marked Montreal's third playoff sweep in the last four series. The Canadiens won 12 of 13 playoff games to capture the Cup last year.

Smythe lowered the boom on Imlach two minutes after the Bruins eliminated Toronto. It was Derek Sanderson of the Bruins, who lowered the boom on the Maple Leafs.

Sanderson scored two goals, one while killing a Boston penalty, to lead the Bruins' attack. Phil Esposito's sixth playoff goal was Boston's other score. Ron Ellis and Dave Keon scored for the Leafs.

Littler Wins Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Some people call Gene Littler golf's mechanical man. Quiet, soft - spoken, seldom spectacular, all he does is win money and tournaments in a generally unobtrusive manner.

When he won a four-man sudden death playoff on the fifth extra hole of the $160,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament Sunday he padded his bulging 1969 bankroll by $32,000. He's the year's top money winner at $86,000 and the first man in 14 tournaments this year to win twice. He took the Phoenix Open in February.

Junior Editors Quiz on EURASIA

QUESTION: Why are Europe and Asia considered as two separate continents?

ANSWER: Geologists often think of continents as huge land masses more or less surrounded by water. From this point of view, Europe and Asia are often considered as one super-continent, called Eurasia. Although there is no general water boundary between Europe and Asia, there is a striking land one, the Ural Mountains, which rise sharply from lower land on either side and slice Eurasia in two (check our map). The early map makers noted this division and used the Urals to mark the boundary between Europe and Asia. We have continued their usage. Another development tending to split Eurasia was that our Western civilization grew from early civilizations in Asia Minor (two towers to left) whose ideas moved north and influenced Europe and America. But the civilizations developing in India and China (towers to right) were very different. At first, these two worlds of West and East had little to do with each other. Nowadays, they are understanding each other better. The Asian children waving at us are symbolizing this increased understanding.

(Jaylene Peterson of Greeley, Colo., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
